Area Mishaps: Two Fatalities

By WALTER S. CLARK

LAKE KATRINE Pre-holiday traffic accidents have claimed the lives of several persons, including a 20-year-old college student from Saugerties, who was killed when her car slammed into a utility pole on Route 9W, at Lake Katrine, and a 46-year-old Brooklyn woman, who was fatally hurt in a spectacular crash on the Thruway south of New Paltz.

The two county deaths raised the Ulster death toll on highways this year to 19. Victims of the area fatal crashes were Miss Michelle Y. Carroll, of 50 Spaulding Lane, Saugerties, and Mrs. Lillian Wiltshire of 1341 East Third Avenue, Brooklyn. Two teenage sons of Congressman Hugh L. Carey, an independent New York City mayoral candidate and father of 14 children, were killed early this morning when their car crashed into a utility pole and tree on Shelter Island on the tip of Long Island. They were Peter, 18, and Hugh Jr., 17. A 15-year-old girl passenger in the vehicle also was killed in the crash.

Divers continued search today for the body of 2½-year-old Semko Petkov, of Ballston Spa, one of four persons, including the child's parents, Karl and Anna Petkov, who drowned Wednesday afternoon when their car hit a pickup truck and plunged off a bridge into the Mohawk River near the Upstate community of Crescent. The driver of the death car, crushed by the force of the Kazimierz Zalewski, 42, man, aged to get out of the car and was floating in the river when rescued by a 16-year-old youth in 17 feet of water.

Front of Car Crushed Kingston State Police reported the vehicle continued on for a distance of about 60 feet when it hit a utility pole and a second retaining wall, state community of Crescent. The front of the car was crushed by the force of the impact, which threw the operator under the dash board. Authorities said the young woman was not wearing a seat belt. The victim was extricated from the car and rushed to Kingston Hospital by Doctor's Ambulance Service. She was pronounced dead on arrival, and Ulster County Coroner William S. Keyser investigated with Sgt. Charles Bundschuh and Troopers Patrick Sheehan and F. A. Dinuzzo. Newburgh Thruway troopers reported Mrs. Wiltshire and five passengers in her car were traveling north on the super-

Secret Talk -- Mixed Reaction

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George S. McGovern's secret meeting with top Communist negotiators has come under attack from a fellow Democrat who questioned whether it is in the nation's interest "to meet with the enemy in time of war."

10-Hour Session Sen. Harry F. Byrd Jr. of Virginia raised the issue after McGovern, long a critic of U.S. policy in Vietnam, disclosed he had met for 10 hours May 23 in Paris with North Vietnamese and Viet Cong representatives. Answering questions about the propriety of the meeting, McGovern said: "These same considerations went through my mind for many, many months. But he said he decided to go ahead with the meeting after conferring with the State Department and chief U.S. peace negotiator Henry Cabot Lodge.

"I wouldn't be able to rest if I thought anything I'd done had cost the life of a single American boy or prolonged the war," the South Dakota Democrat said in defending his action.

Related stories on the Vietnam War are on Page 32.

McGovern told of the secret meeting Wednesday in a Senate speech, and he elaborated in a press briefing and a series of exchanges with fellow senators during and after his formal talk. He said he arranged the session to get a better understanding of why the war and the killing goes on. The senator emphasized he only asked questions and made clear to the representatives of North Vietnam and the Viet Cong he was not speaking in behalf of the U.S. government.

Byrd, said if Lodge approved the session, he assumed other senators might also arrange such meetings.

"Are we going to attempt to have individual negotiations with representatives of the enemy in Paris?" Byrd asked.

The Virginia Democrat, in questioning whether such sessions would serve the nation's best interests said "we are still in a very difficult and precarious position."

McGovern said the meeting reinforced his views that the United States must start a "systematic withdrawal of all of our troops" and stop supporting the regime of South Vietnam President Nguyen Van Thieu.

Also Draws Praise

McGovern's Paris meeting drew praise from several other Democratic war critics who said they see no change between the policies of the Johnson and Nixon administrations.

"We have waited for some indication of a substantial change in the policy that led us into the morass," said Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho. "I too have failed to detect this change."

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, also agreed.

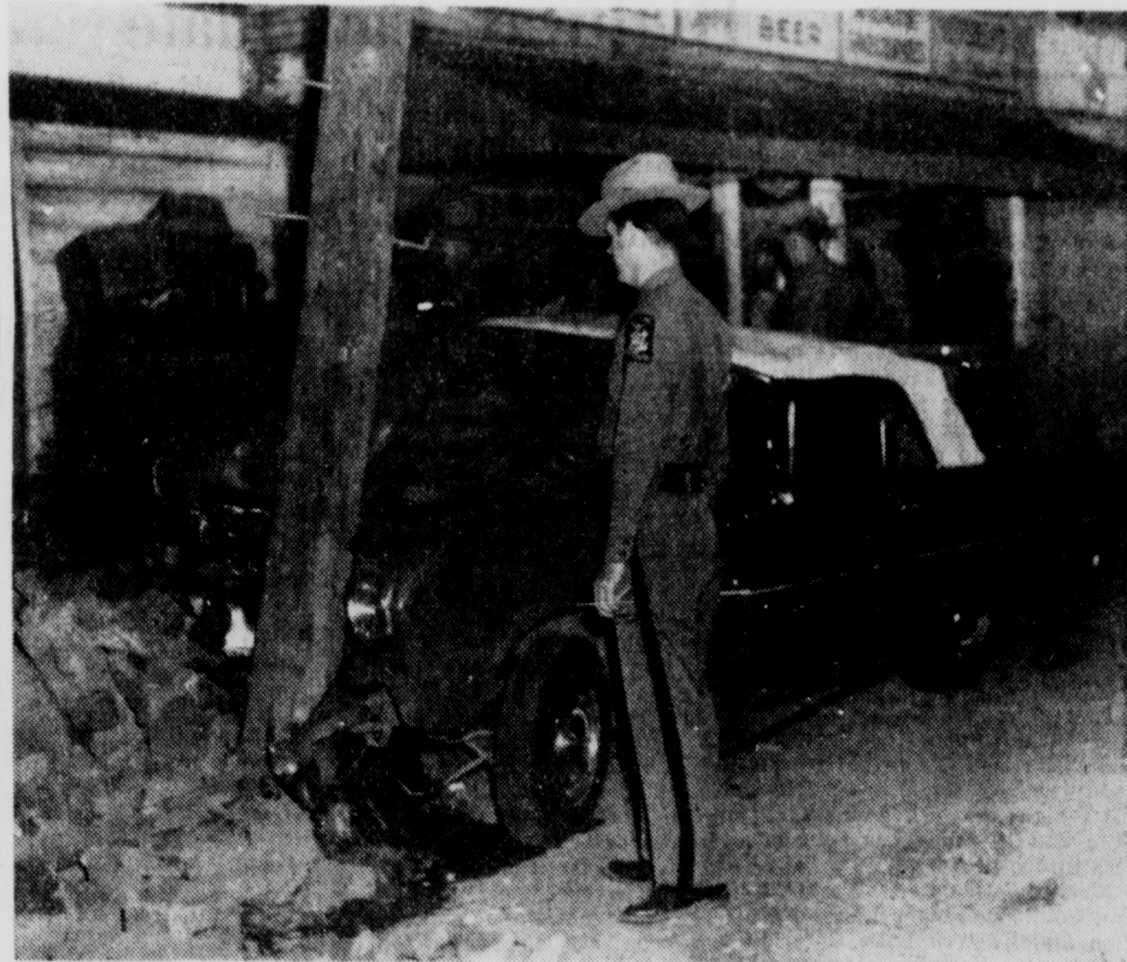

But Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo., criticized McGovern, saying that "If we were to precipitously pull back ... the consequences for a couple of million people in South Vietnam would be so great."

The main conclusion in McGovern's speech was the "So long as we cling to our military policy of maximum pressure and our political embrace of Gen. Thieu, the negotiations in Paris are a sham and a delusion."

Two Nabbed After Manhunt

NEW PALTZ Two 17-year-old youths were in the Town of Plattekill. According to investigators Powell and Willis hired a taxicab operated by Lester Upright of Wallkill in Clinton and directed him to drive them to the Plattekill area. As the vehicle traveled along the Crow Hill Road in the Town of Lloyd, the passengers identified later as the two youths, allegedly slugged Upright on the head forcing him to stop the car. Troopers said the youths were accused of taking about $100 from the taxicab driver before they fled on foot. Although injured from a blow on the head, Upright managed to drive to a nearby telephone and troopers at Highland were notified of the robbery. Troopers Jack Ostmark, G. P. Rebhan, D. E. Sanford and W. A. Hazlett sped to the area and roadblocks were set up as a manhunt got underway for the pair. Constable Wager obtained information that two youths were seen in the vicinity of the Willis home, and search was concentrated there and the two accused youths were found in hiding, authorities said. Arraigned before Town Justice Rexford Schneider, Willis and Powell were held in lieu of bail.

Chiang's Boats Blitz Peking Base

TAIPEI (UPI)—A fleet of Nationalist Chinese gunboats blitzed into a coastal Communist naval base on the mainland Wednesday night and escaped today reporting two supply ships and a Peking gunboat sunk, the government said. It was the first sea battle between the two Chinas since Jan. 18, 1966. The returning raiders said they damaged a second Communist gunboat trying to block their escape. A government announcement described the target as a small port in the mouth of the Min River, about 100 miles west of the northern tip of Nationalist China and near the mainland city of Fuchou.

The battle spilled out into the Formosa Strait separating the two nations, with a rear guard of Nationalist gunboats holding off Communist counterattacks until the raiders finished up. Tensions along the strait have eased between the two Chinas in recent months and this battle threatened to bring retaliation from Peking and more calls for invading the mainland by the Nationalist regime. The two supply ships, of unknown tonnage, went down at the Communist naval base, the announcement said, while one pursuing Communist gunboat was sunk and a second damaged outside the harbor. The number and type of Nationalist Chinese warships in on the raid was not disclosed.

The government said only that they returned safely to their bases. There was no immediate comment from Peking. The Formosa Strait separates the two Chinas, with the island of Formosa or Nationalist China separated from the mainland or Red China by about 100 miles. Wednesday night's Nationalist raid could be viewed as just another in the long series of anti-Communist efforts in the history of President Chiang Kai-shek of Nationalist China. Chiang, who was inaugurated for a fourth term at Taipei's City Hall on May 20, 1966, has vowed at the time that he would "exterminate Mao Tse-tung and his Peking cohorts, liberate and establish on the ruins of a 'discouraged old sol-new country of unity and freedom' and said he had often done."

School Budget Approved

Saugerties Makes It This Time

By ALBERT J. CAWEIN

SAUGERTIES Saugerties Central School District voters approved a revised budget of $4,460,269.50 by a 69 vote margin in balloting Wednesday. The vote was 362 in favor and 793 against.

Largest Turnout

A total of 1,655 cast ballots on the voting machines at Main Street School in what was described as the largest voter turnout for a school budget in the history of the centralized district.

The budget figure was reduced by $71,104 after the preliminary budget totaling $4,496,515 was defeated on June 10 by 366 to 339. Prior to that the budget ran into a roadblock on May 6, when the public hearing was abruptly adjourned to June 10 following a voting machine ballot on the motion.

The approved figure will result in an estimated tax rate of $115.92 per $1,000 of assessed valuation, an increase of $2.60 over last year's rate of $113.23. The new figure leaves $1,322,531.86 to be raised by taxation. The defeated budget figure would have called for a tax rate of about $122.16.

Saugerties Central School Board of Education announced last month that the $71,104 cut in the budget was made possible by the elimination of the following items: Three extra teachers at $8,000 each for a total of $24,000; the adult education program $5,670; four instructional aides for the elementary schools $10,434; noon hour aides and composition correctors for the high school $7,200; in-service education projects $3,400; and a additional science teacher $8,000; professional reference books $300; additional bleacher sections $1,100; salaries of substitutes $3,000; home teaching $2,000 and curriculum projects $6,000.

Commenting on the outcome, Dr. Dexter O. Arnold, superintendent of schools said today:

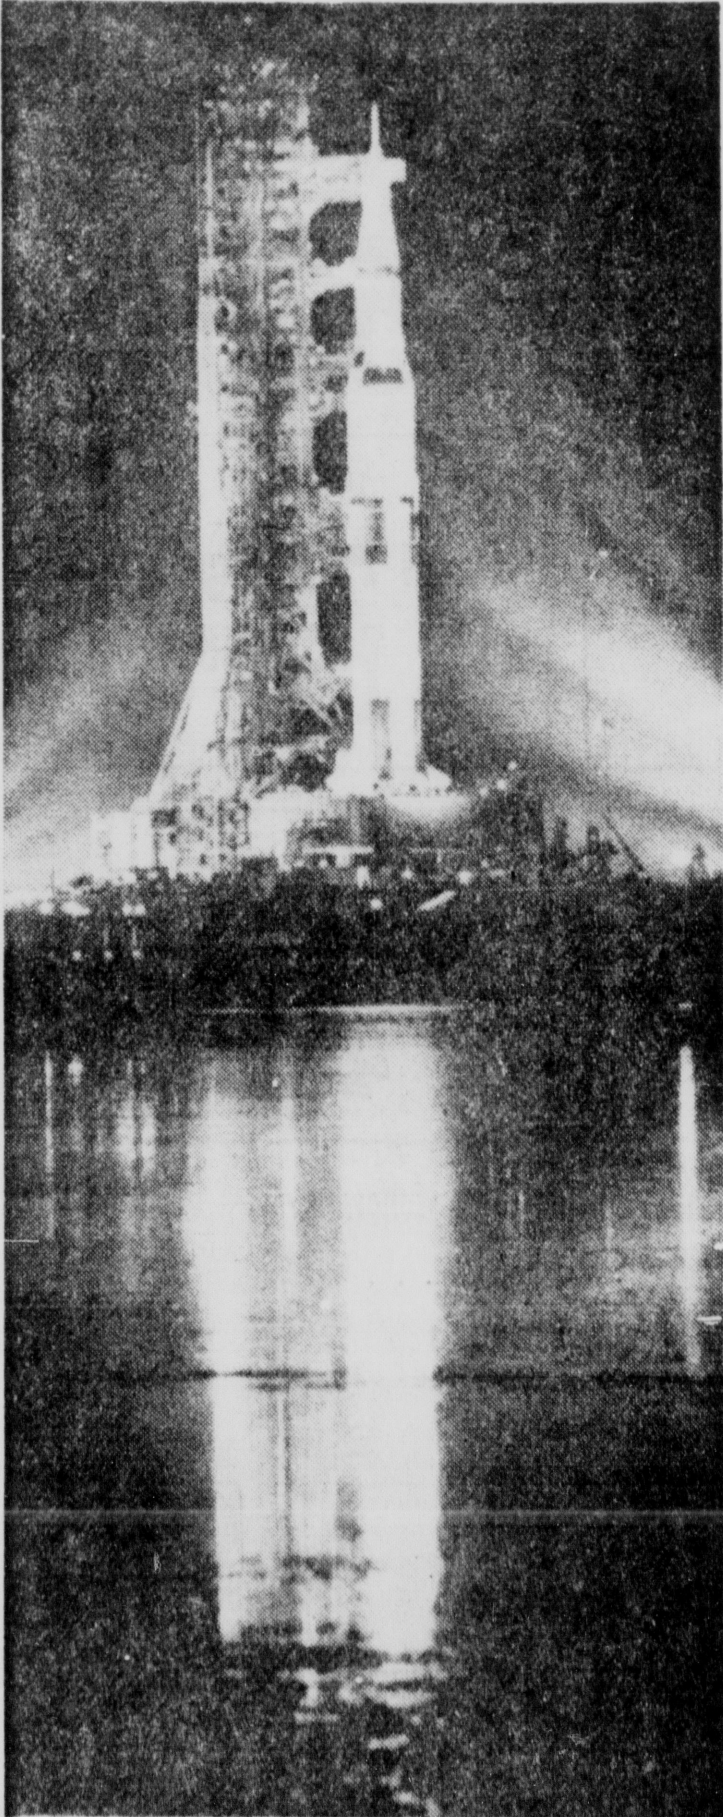

A Relief: Arnold "I am very pleased that the school budget received the approval of our voters. Although our usual procedures in preparation for the next school year have been delayed two months, we will do our best to make up for lost time.

It is a pleasant relief to know that our boys and girls will not suffer the pains of an austerity budget. It is comforting to know that our educational program has been supported and that so many good citizens voted.

The 1,655 votes cast represents the largest vote on a Saugerties School budget.

"The Board of Education joins me, I am sure, in thanking the people who voted for the budget for their support of a fine educational program which we attempt to operate at the lowest possible cost to the taxpayer. We understand our responsibility and are proud of our record."

Four-Year Legislator Term: A Charter Commission Proposal

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON — A four-year instead of a two-year term for Ulster County legislators?

Pressure for such an innovation in county government has begun to surface and therefore the Charter Commission will consider such a change when it meets for a public hearing Wednesday, July 9 at 8 p.m. in the County Office Building.

As tentatively drawn, one article of the proposed new charter provides for no change in the number of legislators but it does set the term of office for four years instead of two.

Proponents of a four-year term stress that it will eliminate a legislator's having to campaign for office every other year.

Opponents say that if a legislator is doing a proper job of taking care of his constituency, he is simultaneously taking care of his campaigning.

Proponents say that elections every two years are burdensome especially in the advent of primaries and intra-party troubles. Those against the proposal maintain that elections every other year keep the legislators more responsive to the electorate.

Members of the legislature, on the whole, are reported favoring a four-year term.

Ward W. Ingalsbe Jr., chairman of the commission has emphasized that all provisions will be influenced by the reactions in the county office building and comments expressed at the public hearings. He urges everyone interested to attend Wednesday's hearing, which is one of a series being conducted by the commission, which is preparing a charter for recommendation to the County Legislature.

In addition to considering the four-year legislator term, the commission will also deal with other tentative proposals relative to the legislative branch of government.

Another hearing has been scheduled for July 23 at 8 p.m. in the county office building and will concern itself with public hearings. He urges everyone interested to attend Wednesday's

At a meeting in June, articles creating the offices and departments of a commissioner of finance and a comptroller were discussed.

The commissioner of finance, an appointive office, would correspond to the present role of the county treasurer.

The comptroller, a new office responsible for auditing books and records of all county government units, would be elected for a four-year term, according to the tentative proposal.

Much of the discussion centered around the possibility of establishing a county assessment coordinator, responsible to the commissioner of finance.

Mrs. Irving Harris, president of the Kingston League of Women Voters, submitted a statement in behalf of the leagues of Woodstock, Saugerties, New Paltz and Kingston recommending:

1. Provision be made for a centralized system of finance that would make fiscal management the direct responsibility of the county executive.

2. Provision be made for a system containing adequate checks and balances, central purchasing, separate auditing, budget preparation and long-range planning with fixed responsibilities.

The League statement said that the county executive should be the chief fiscal officer of the county, bearing the responsibility of presenting a capital program. It also said the executive should have the power to veto over fiscal as well as general matters and this vote may be overridden by a two-thirds vote of the total legislature.

Daniel Alfonso, a commission vice chairman, who headed the subcommittee studying financial administration, noted that most of the league's recommendations had been embodied in the proposed articles and that further study will be given to the separation of pre and post-auditing functions. It was pointed out that since the commissioner of finance would be appointed by the county executive and responsible to him, the executive would in fact be responsible for fiscal management.

Comments and suggestions from the public may be submitted to the commission in writing when a person is unable to attend the public hearing.

Marbletown Holds Discussion Over Town Junk Car Ordinance

By SHANE CROSBY

STONE RIDGE — Junk cars and their control under the Marbletown Junk Car ordinance continued to be a major problem here as town officials Wednesday debated the cases of yards in High Falls and Atwood.

Two applications for junk car licenses were discussed by the board for the second month in a row, at one point, reaching heated verbal attacks between the town's two justices of the peace.

Both applicants, according to Marbletown officials, have been in violation of the town's ordinance since both have been collecting and working on junked cars. The licenses are felt necessary in order for both to clear their properties of the useless vehicles, from the town's point of view; as well as necessary to allow continued operation.

State police consider a town's junk car license as a state license and have said that junked vehicles cannot be transported on highway without a license. As a result, dealers who find themselves in a position to have their junk cars sold to scrap yards in other communities cannot move the items without the license.

The Town of Marbletown has found itself in the position of issuing a license to operators to help them empty their property of junkers, or as one resident noted at the June meeting, it's a "going-out-of-business license."

Justice of the Peace Edmund Ruffner said he has been attempting to have the operation on the Ted F. Ayers case from High Falls, one of the two applicants, "cleaned out" for more than 18 months. He stated that he is opposed to the issue of a license in the High Falls operation because of the closeness of the cars to residences in the center of the community.

Ruffner was sharply challenged by Justice Robert Diamond who said "It's been in your court for a year and a half with no results." Diamond said he had received the case recently in his court for action. He produced a petition with 30 names from the Ayers' neighbors. Diamond feels the license should be granted since the signers are behind Ayers.

The second application considered was from John Ferran, who according to Ruffner, wants to take cars for use as landfill in a private airstrip the Atwood used car dealer is constructing.

Both had been turned over to the town's Zoning Board of Appeals under the chairmanship of Lester Judd, since they were considered new business ventures by the town.

Judd returned the application and told the Town Board Wednesday that the Ayers and the Ferran operation were not new, since both had been operating for a number of years. Judd said the town should consider the license first, adding that the board of appeals was not attempting to sidestep the issue.

A letter from the Supervisor Roy Webber was suggested to be sent to Ayers calling for the removal of some 16 or 18 junk cars from his High Falls property. Ayers, an enlisted man stationed in Massachusetts with the Army, was said to have been attempting to remove the cars on infrequent weekend leaves and the board agreed to allow him an undetermined length of time to end the car operation.

Two other "major offenders" had been discussed by the board at its June meeting with both being given the opportunity to obtain licenses with the stipulation that they clear their properties by the end of the year and close their businesses.

The board noted that junk car dealers in neighboring Rosendale had offered to accept cars from Marbletown and said it prefers the out of town operations to ones in Marbletown.

In other board action, the appointments of Charles Dedrick and Dixon McGrath to the Marbletown Zoning Commission were announced.

Webber said the Zoning Board and Zoning Commission would begin meetings again shortly in an effort to complete the planned Zoning Ordinance for the town.

He said "more public meetings" are scheduled before the town board considers the zoning matter. Two public hearings have been held by the Zoning Board.

Marbletown Seeks Highway Candidate

STONE RIDGE

Marbletown is faced with a possible blank space on the November ballot for the position of Superintendent of Highways, says town GOP chairman William Davenport.

The Stone Ridge businessman said here Wednesday that unless the town considers increasing pay and benefits for the supervisor, the post may go begging in November when the present term of Jesse Williams expires.

Williams, said the chairman, had told the Republican committeemen in a meeting here last week that he would not consider reelection to the position he has held for two two-year terms.

The Superintendent of Highways told The Freeman that in the four years he has been in office he has taken only three days vacation and four more days due to sickness. He said he would consider running to succeed himself if the post paid a better salary and included pay increases for highway employees.

The party chairman said he has asked Town supervisor Roy Webber to look into the problem of pay for the highway post and suggested that a one or two week vacation might be another inducement. "It's a 52 week a year job," said Davenport.

He added that a small number of individuals had been contacted regarding possible nominations for the post, but that all were concerned about the pay and benefits offered.

Carpino Case -- A 24-Hour Probe

By WALTER S. CLARK

KINGSTON

Investigation of the baffling death of 61-year-old Mrs. Theresa Carpino of 744 Broadway today continued on an around-the-clock schedule as police officials admitted there were no new developments in the case.

Authorities were tight-lipped when asked about possible motives that led to the strangulation of the woman, who operated the Circle Bar and Grill next door to her home with her husband, Thomas.

Acting Police Chief Julius Glassman, who is heading the investigation with Det. Sgt. Charles McCullough in conjunction with the staff of Dist. Atty. Joseph P. Torraca said authorities were awaiting reports from the state police laboratory of tests made of vital organs of the victim and several items and materials that were found in the tavern, where the partly burned body of the woman was discovered.

Firefighters, who responded to a box alarm early Tuesday morning after fire was reported in the kitchen of the Circle Bar, found the woman's body after they extinguished flames that burned a small area of the kitchen.

An autopsy directed by County Coroner William S. Keyser disclosed the woman had apparently died of strangulation, the victim of homicide by unknown person or persons who may have attacked the woman as she prepared to close the tavern after business hours.

Authorities declined to comment on possibilities that robbery may have been involved, and that the fire might have been set to cover up the crime of strangulation which took the life of the tavern operator.

It was noted by an authority that Mrs. Carpino's husband, Thomas, has been a patient at Benedictine Hospital for the last two months and is unable to move around unassisted. A member of the Carpino family told The Freeman at noon today that the hospitalized man is not allowed visitors.

Word in Paltz...Cautious Optimism

By BRUCE KAUFMAN

NEW PALTZ

Spokesman for New Paltz Village Board and an ad hoc group called the "Freedom on the Sidewalks Committee" have indicated that they are "cautiously optimistic" following a meeting between the two bodies, here, Tuesday night.

The Tuesday night meeting was hastily arranged, at the regular July meeting of the Village Board, when more than 50 young people, identifying themselves as students and residents of the village, petitioned the board to revoke an anti-loitering ordinance which they claimed was "arbitrary" and "unconstitutional." Specifically the young people were protesting the arrest of four of their fellows for allegedly violating that ordinance.

The purpose of the Tuesday night meeting between the board and seven members of the young people were earnestly trying to resolve the issue.

Similarly, a spokesman for the ad hoc committee, Ron Doster, said that he was hopeful that a real understanding can be worked out between the two groups.

"I hope that as a result of this and any future discussions the village officials and law enforcements authorities will assume a new attitude acknowledging the fact that we are entitled to the rights of first-class citizens," Doster said.

Attorney Neal Fabricant, who accompanied the ad hoc committee, characterized the meeting as a novel approach in dealing with disagreements between village authorities and the young people affiliated with the State University.

"In a sense, this is a new kind of non-violent confrontation politics, where the students are expressing their grievances in a responsible manner," he said.

Rosendale Joins the Waiting Line

ROSENDALE

Town of Rosendale Supervisor Gerard DeFelice said today that the town is seeking use of the old Rosendale Elementary School in this village for municipal offices, joining a list of about six organizations now before the Rondout Valley Central Schools, owner of the property. The school, vacated last month, is being sought by the town in preference to another village building that has been considered. DeFelice said the town will hold back plans to use the old Main Street Church building that was closed last year, until the results of the RVC Board of Education are released on who is to have the schoolhouse.

The RVC Board of Education had recently named a citizen's committee to investigate requests for use of the elementary schoolhouse and is expected to make a decision based on the committee's recommendations.

The church building had been under consideration by the town, but, said the supervisor, the schoolhouse will be negotiated as an alternate site.

No turtle has teeth, whether it be a sea turtle, a tortoise or the fresh-water terrapin. Nominal explosive force of the first atomic bombs was equal to 20, tons of TNT.

The statement indicates that Sylvio Chaisson, president of the school board and Michael Hincney, president of the HTA, have announced that "a fair and equitable agreement has been reached between the two parties."

The terms of the salary package call for a starting salary of $6,800 for a starting teacher with a BA and $7,500 for a starting teacher with a MA. The agreement also provides for $300 annual salary increments, a $300 tenure increment, and $400 for the 15th and 25th years of local service.

The school board has already formally approved the agreement and according to the statement, the Teachers Association will ratify the entire package in the near future.

Poppel Is Candidate For Wawarsing Post

Herbert Poppel announced his candidacy for reelection to the Wawarsing post of Justice of the Peace on an Independent ticket in November.

Poppel resigned his post last year, after 18 years as Justice, "to protect his family" after charges were made against his bookkeeping practices. "The Ulster County Grand Jury recently cleared me of any misconduct," he said.

Poppel said the Town of Wawarsing GOP party has given its unofficial nod to Maurice Rosenstock while the Democrats have yet to announce their candidate.

Robert A. Miggins, 8, of RD 6, Kingston, was injured shortly after 11:30 a.m. Wednesday when his bicycle and a car were involved in a mishap on Hallinan's Hill Road, near the boy's home.

Deputy Sheriff Donald Van Aken reported the boy was taken to Kingston Hospital by Doctor's Ambulance Service. He suffered injuries of the nose, a fractured leg and possible concussion, authorities reported.

Leona Felton, of Ruby, operator of the car, said she was traveling along the road when the boy rode his bicycle from a driveway. She swerved the vehicle to the left but was unable to avoid the accident.

Robert Hutton of Box 166, DeWitt Lake Road, complained to authorities that his home was burglarized and food, a kerosene lamp, candle holders and jewelry including a bracelet had been stolen.

County Investigator Harold T. Bowers and Deputy Steven Rosenstein also investigated a report that someone entered the Compola apartment opposite the Connelly firehouse on Center Street in that community through a back door. Missing from the rooms were three bottles of whiskey valued at $20, according to investigators.

Bunny Unleashed
HUDSON, N.Y. (AP) — Yes, Virginia, there is an Easter bunny, but if he's caged in this Columbia County city on the east somebody could be in trouble.

The city council has taken an initial step to ban all new rabbit-keeping projects here and to strictly regulate cages already confining rabbits.

The problem, the council said, is that caged rabbits don't smell as nice as they look. A provision of the law would require weekly cleaning of rabbit cages.

DOCTORS FACE TAX AUDIT — William H. East European Report

Reds' Visit to Romania Off

MOSCOW (UPI)—East European sources said today Soviet leaders have called off a planned visit this month to Romania to sign a friendship treaty because of the visit there next month of President Nixon.

The Soviets officially never have confirmed Monday's announcement by the Romanians of their scheduled July 14 trip to Bucharest and remained silent on the reported cancellation.

(In Bucharest, informed Communist sources said no word of the cancellation had been received by Romanian officials and so far as they knew, the visit by Kremlin leaders was still on.)

Soviet party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin were to make the ceremonial trip to Bucharest to sign a 20-year extension of their friendship pact with Romania, which expired Feb. 8, 1968.

The Soviet leaders apparently did not count on the extent to which Romania's president and party secretary, Nicolae Ceausescu, would go on an independent path in inviting Nixon.

It would be the first visit in almost 25 years of a U.S. president to a Communist country.

The Soviets were not consulted or informed in advance about Ceausescu's invitation to Nixon, according to reliable diplomatic sources.

Their displeasure was shown immediately when they virtually ignored the Nixon visit. Announcement of the trip was given 10 words without comment in the official Soviet press.

This time the Soviets, who quietly had accepted Romania's voting against Soviet resolutions at the United Nations, its refusal to break diplomatic relations with Israel and its recognition of West Germany, apparently balked at Ceausescu's new act of defiance.

Unless the new Soviet-Romanian crisis is somehow solved within the next few days, it may also result in Brezhnev's boycotting the Romania party congress scheduled Aug. 4, an event the Soviet general secretary normally

Egypt and Israel Trade Suez Shots

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Egypt and Israel traded artillery and small arms fire for 12 hours Wednesday at several points along the Suez Canal, spokesmen for their armies said.

The Israeli communique said two of its soldiers were wounded. The Egyptian communique did not mention casualties.

Amid the intensified military activity, the two countries continued to exchange brickbats, passing over President Gamal Abdel Nasser's home, June 17, top command of the Egyptian air force.

June 23 of Gen. Mustapha el Hennaw, air force chief and claimed Wednesday that Israeli Gen. Hassan Kamel, air defense jets flew over Cairo, possibly commander.

The semiofficial newspaper Al Ahran scorned the claim today, saying it was part of an attempt by Israeli leaders to regain prestige lost by mounting casualties in the Suez Canal area and Palestinian guerrilla attacks in Jerusalem and Tel Aviv.

At the United Nations, the Security Council scheduled another meeting this afternoon to consider a resolution calling for an arms embargo against Israel to force it to call off annexation of the Arab sector of Jerusalem.

Rocky's Closing Minutes in D.R. - - Almost Like Armed Camp

SANTO DOMINGO (UPI)—camp today in the final hours of his visit to the Dominican Republic. Thousands of troops but few of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's residents on the streets gave visit talks with President Joaquin Balaguer. This Dominican Republic capital Joaquin Balaguer.

the appearance of an armed Rockefeller was flying on to Rockefeller's presence touched. The governor arrived during off leftist threats and fears for a rainstorm punctuated with thunder and lightning. He bore a rash on his forehead, apparently picked up earlier in his swing through the Caribbean on the last of his factfinding missions for Nixon.

Rockefeller was whisked from the airport to the presidential palace, down streets lined with 3,100 troops but empty of the people Balaguer had urged out to "open your arms" to the American envoy.

In his arrival remarks, no easy slogans. New U.S. delivered in Spanish, Rockefeller policies may grow out of this, he had said, "I bring no new mission, but they do not arrive programs, no simple answers, with it."

Sen. Fulbright Making Life Difficult For Appointees Who Support ABM Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright is trying to turn the tables on President Nixon by bucking administration nominees who support deployment of Safeguard antiballistic missiles—ABMs.

At Fulbright's direction the Senate Foreign Relations Committee he heads has passed over Nixon's nomination of William J. Casey as a member of the General Advisory Committee of the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency. Casey, chairman of the Citizens Committee for Peace with Security, is leading a publicity campaign for the administration ABM program.

which Fulbright strongly opposes. All 15 appointees to the agency got caught in the same hold order.

In addition, Fulbright said he expects to recall Spurgeon M. Keeny Jr., chosen for assistant director of the disarmament agency.

President Nixon told an April news conference he had decided not to appoint Dr. Franklin Long of Cornell University as head of the National Science Foundation because of the latter's opposition to ABM.

While Fulbright didn't say so, it seemed obvious to his colleagues the Arkansas Democrat of a mind to make the road difficult for appointees who get out in front in support of ABM, an issue that will come before the Senate after the July 4 recess.

Fulbright said he wants to explore "the published views" of Casey. The chairman made it clear he was concerned about a newspaper advertisement in which Casey's committee said a public opinion poll showed 84 per cent of Americans support ABM. Fulbright questions that assessment.

Casey, in putting out an appeal Wednesday for citizens to write their senators and congressmen, said a 10 per cent minority was stimulating mail against ABM.

Fulbright's quarrel with Keeny is over the latter's testimony at a committee hearing that he favors continuation of work on both offensive and defensive weapons.

The committee chairman said it was "pitiful... awful" that Casey should testify that the Soviet Union might regard U.S. intercontinental missiles as "part of a first strike counterforce capability."

Fulbright announced he was going to oppose the Keeny nomination. He temporarily withheld judgment on Casey until the latter testifies.

'Black Lung' Fight

Miners March to Dramatize Their Protest

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a quiet counterpoint to the hoopla of Independence Day, 1,000 coal miners from the pitted hills of Appalachia are planning a march to the steps of the Jefferson Memorial to dramatize their fight against the dreaded "black lung" disease.

No picketing, no talks by union men or politicians are on the schedule. The only speakers would be three men of the Physicians Committee for Miners Health and Safety.

"Jefferson once said there should be a social revolution once every 20 years if the vested interests gain too much control," said Dr. I. E. Buff, a committee member from Charleston, W.Va.

"He also said that all men are created equal, but somehow, somewhere, someone has forgotten that coal miners are human," Buff said.

What the miners want is a tough mine health safety law and compensation for "black lung" disease said to afflict about 50,000 miners. They may get legislative action before summer's end.

Pending before the House and Senate are several bills that would, for the first time establish rules on permissible dust levels in all coal mines. Dust is blamed for the lung disease and some explosions.

The proposed legislation has been spurred by constant attention focused on the plight of the coal miners since 78 were killed in an explosion and fire last November in Farmington, W.Va.

Critics have accused both the industry and the United Mine Workers union of doing too little and being too late for the safety and welfare of the miners.

It was Buff who pulled West Virginia's 40,000 miners out of the pits for three weeks in February to force the state legislature into passing a bill granting compensation for pneumoconiosis, or black lung.

Buff and the physicians committee, working independently of the union, are now organizing similar movements in the coal fields.

A congressional source said the Senate Labor Committee is ready with a tough mine safety bill supported by the administration.

Besides setting standards for dust, the bill establishes civil and criminal penalties and bans most equipment which give off electric sparks that could cause explosions.

Ulster Board Meets July 10

TOWN OF ULSTER

A protest strike against the governor's visit by public transport workers contributed to the deserted streets.

Security guards threw up roadblocks around Rockefeller's hotel and Americans traveling with the governor were advised not to venture downtown alone.

Rockefeller's conversations with Balaguer were expected to center on the Dominican Republic's hopes for a greater sugar quota pact with the United States. The island republic exports about 300,000 tons annually to America but would like to double that figure.

Balaguer and Rockefeller set aside 75 minutes for the continuation of their conversations today before the governor departed for Kingston.

U Thant Asks a World Ban Of Germ Warfare Arsenal

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General U Thant has called for a world pact banning the development, production and stockpiling of all chemical and germ warfare agents for "their effective elimination from the arsenal of weapons."

Thant's three-point proposal was sent to the U.N. Disarmament Committee that opened a new round of discussions in Geneva today, to all 126 members of the United Nations and to the U.N. Security Council.

The program also urges all nations to accede to the Geneva Protocol of 1925, which prohibits the use of poisonous gas and germ warfare, and calls for a clear affirmation that the 1925 ban applies to the use in war of all germ and chemical agents, including tear gas.

The United States signed but never ratified the protocol, which has the formal endorsement of more than 60 governments. Japan is the only other major power that has not acceded to the agreement.

used in World War I and a number of nations are known to have stockpiled chemical and germ weapons during and since World War II, the experts cited only the United States as an example of a nation which has used the weapons in a recent war. They cited American use of herbicides to defoliate jungles and forests in South Vietnam.

"There is as yet no scientific evaluation of the long-term ecological changes resulting from these attacks," the report said. "One estimate is that some mangrove forests may need 20 years to regenerate, and fears have been expressed about the future of the animal population."

The committee noted that certain bird species have migrated from attacked areas, but "there has been no decline in fish catches."

Unique Rehabilitation Center

By BRUCE KAUFMAN

ELLENVILLE — A unique experiment in the rehabilitation of narcotics addicts is currently being conducted in this southern Ulster County community.

The experiment, called the Renaissance Project, is a self-alternative to a prison term, vive," she says, "but here the Similarly, most have submitted whole environment is geared to themselves to other forms of openness and honesty or as we narcotics rehabilitation. call it 'pulling things together where they are really at.'"

Jerry Landry, a staff co-ordinator, says that the most significant difference between her husband Bill, came to Renaissance Project, is a self-

Miss Lysobey does not find the disciplinary setup to be oppressive, but sees it rather as a "learning experience."

"It is different than jail because instead of having one authority telling us what to do, we tell each other," she says. "Moreover, this is our house and we feel responsible to it."

In addition to the rigid discipline and specific chore assignments, the members of the Renaissance family also spend a good deal of time interacting with each other, not only casually during mealtime, but in directed group sessions.

In encounter group sessions, held three nights a week, the resident is forced to "accept what he is" by having his behavior constantly attacked.

Daily Seminar

Another therapeutic approach employed at Renaissance is a seminar held daily after lunch. At these sessions a wide variety of subjects ranging from current events to public speaking

After a six to nine month stay at the Ellenville center, the former addict is usually ready to "phase out" of the project and resume his life in the "real world." During this period, he or she will continue the therapeutic process at one of the store-front centers.

Since the phase-out period itself lasts at least one year it is too difficult to determine at this time how successful the rehabilitation program is. However, one director at Renaissance says "that of every 10 addicts that come to the center, four may make it."

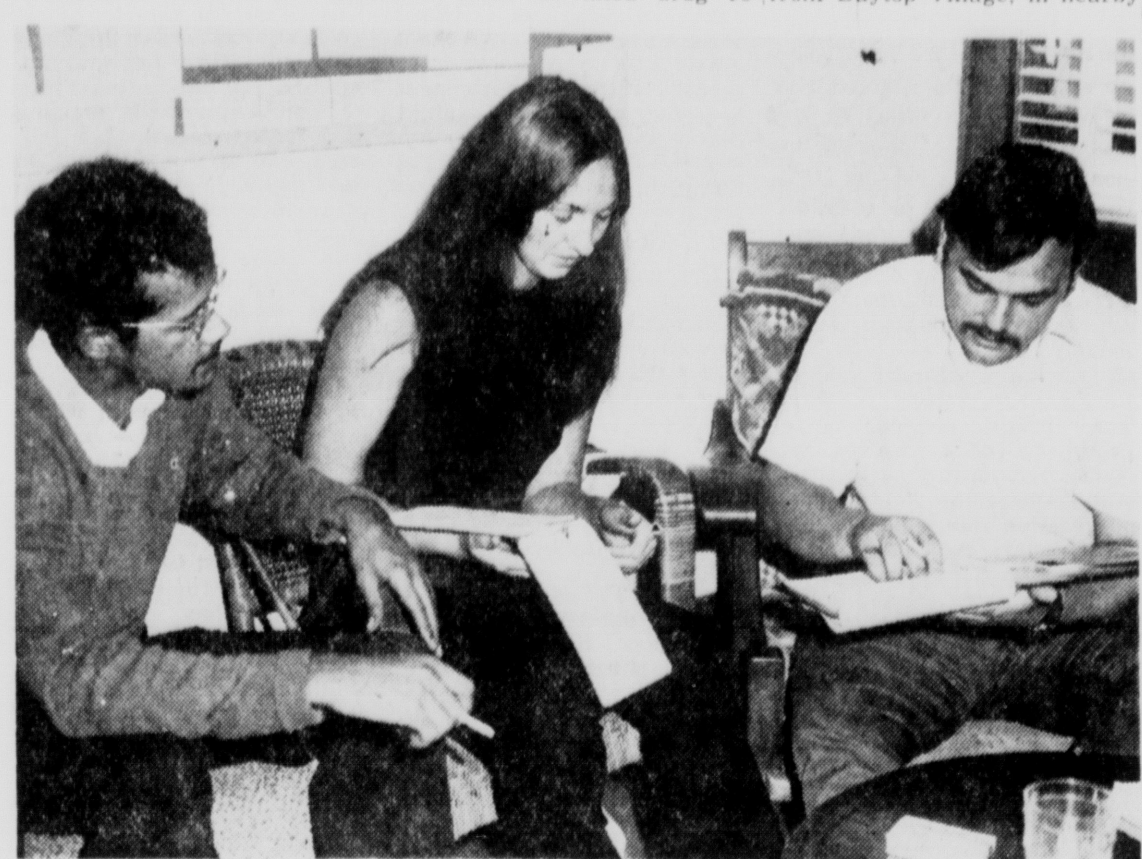

The residents, themselves, apprehensively look forward to the day that they can resume normal lives in society.

"I look forward to going out there, because this environment is not life, but a fantasy land, suited and tailored to our needs," one addict says.

Throughout the entire day at Renaissance, strict discipline in a therapeutic setting, is maintained.

Following breakfast, there is a morning meeting where "pull ups" (rule infractions) are discussed, announcements are made, and the activities of the preceding day are reviewed.

According to Liz Gardner, there are two cardinal rules. These rules are that there is help form of drug abuse treatment, where former addicts who have demonstrated a willingness "to kick the habit," are involved in a 24 hour a day self-sustained environment.

In existence for more than a year, Renaissance operates on a shoestring budget provided through contributions from parents and community groups in Westchester County. In Westchester, itself, the project operates four store-front centers offering narcotics rehabilitation to hundreds of drug users.

The "Renaissance family," which is currently in the process of establishing their permanent home on a spacious site along Ulster Heights Road, consists of about 70 residents and staff members including 16 girls.

One of the unique factors about Renaissance is that the entire operation is directed by former addicts and no professional therapists are employed. The treatment is based on continuous group interaction patterned after similar programs such as Synanon and Daytop Village.

Every type of drug addiction is represented at Renaissance from depressants, like barbiturates to stimulants such as heroin and methadone (speed). The residents range in age from 16 to 26 and in background from lower class functional illiterates to upper middle class college graduates, and from hard-core heroin addicts to former "psychedelic flower children."

Common Characteristics

Despite the diversified backgrounds of the various members of the Renaissance family, most of the former drug addicts agree that individuals who gravitate into the drug culture share many common characteristics.

Wendy Lysobey, a very articulate and poised 16-year-old, who had used drugs for four years before coming to Renaissance, feels that the primary motivating factors are "loneliness" and a "search for identity."

"I had an emptiness inside of me, and I didn't know how to fill this hole," Wendy says. "I started using marijuana because I was lonely."

Roy Hurwitz, whose involvement in the drug scene was twice as long as Wendy's, feels that most drug users had "addictive personalities" before turning to drugs.

Most of the residents at Renaissance have either spent time in jail or have been referred to the project as an al-

A Living Idea

The Declaration of Independence is both document and idea. As both, it has had a long but far from always secure existence.

Approaching the end of its second century, the faded parchment, signatures all but illegible, is housed in Washington's National Archives, protected from the natural processes of decay and disintegration by every means known to science.

But it is only during fairly recent times that such care has been shown for the physical state of the nation's birth certificate. During its earlier years, the parchment shared in its own way the vicissitudes of the nation. At times it seemed hit or miss whether either would survive the besetting perils.

During the Revolution, when the American bid for freedom so frequently seemed on the verge of extinction, the Declaration was rushed from town to town to keep it out of the hands of the advancing British. During the War of 1812 and the burning of Washington, it was sewn into linen bags and lay hidden in a Virginia barn.

Only in recent and more secure times for the nation has it known special care and a permanent place of honor. The exhibition hall in the National Archives is a fitting background as well as a secure resting place.

None question that the Declaration should be treated with care and reverence. The document is a precious part of the American heritage, of our present and future.

But more precious yet is the idea, the living idea that makes the Declaration a vital, continuing fact of the American experience. Without it, the document is no more than a collection of fading words on drying parchment.

To preserve it, we cannot turn to science, to sealed cabinets and controlled humidity. It lives not on paper but in heart and mind, of each American and of all Americans.

Its preservation lies solely in our determination that it shall live.

Wasted Billions

When government operations were an insignificant part of the national economy, Congress could afford to concentrate on details in departmental budgets. With the Federal spending now accounting for 20 per cent of total national production, neither the Congress nor the Executive police public spending efficiently. The result is that billions of dollars are wasted.

Senator William Proxmire, Wisconsin Democrat, thus summed the bind in which the government finds itself. As chairman of the economy subcommittee of the Joint Senate-House Economy Committee, Proxmire engaged a massive academic study of the budgeting system in federal government. He made his own comments in a statement accompanying the study.

Proxmire thinks today the Congress has no time for details and must focus on major outputs and objectives. It must begin asking what our expenditures will accomplish and whether or not the accomplishment is worth the cost. That is one good approach. But even quicker results could come from fine-combing the government to root out programs long since past their usefulness and bring them to an overdue end. There is hardly a department or agency of government that is not weighed down with such programs. It would take a tough minded axe wielder to ferret them all out, but ferreted out they should be, if wasted billions are to be saved for more pressing needs of today.

"Paris—Phff! You call this good? Why, we've got better pory than this back home!"

What a Birth Certificate!

David Lawrence Says

Greater Risk of Frauds If Literacy Tests End

WASHINGTON — There's a peculiar irony in the statements made recently by persons inside and outside of Congress criticizing the South Vietnamese government for not having prevented corruption in elections. For this malpractice unfortunately occurs right here in the United States, and it may increase in future years. There now is before Congress a proposal to end literacy tests throughout the country so that hereafter all persons who can neither read nor write will be permitted to vote. This opens up the way for bribery of voters and the commission of voting frauds.

The present dispute started when Congress passed the Voting Rights Act in 1965, declaring that literacy tests were to be suspended in those states which had such tests and where within the state or political division thereof less than 50 per cent of the people of voting age had voted or were registered to vote in the 1964 election. This supposedly broad prohibition actually applied only to seven states in the South. Attorney General Mitchell now has proposed that none of the 50 states or political subdivisions thereof may require any person to pass a literacy test or other tests or devices as a condition for exercising the fundamental right to vote.

Many of the representatives from northern states are objecting to this, but members of Congress from the South have long been saying that it is discrimination to single out the southern states and that any laws of the land should apply everywhere.

As for voting frauds, just after Mr. Nixon was nominated in 1968, a group consisting of 100,000 volunteers was organized by his associates to prevent some of the "irregularities" which occurred in the 1960 presidential election. Louis B. Nichols, a former assistant director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, was head of the organization, known as "operation integrity."

In an article in reader's Digest this month, Mr. Nichols says that from time to time in the 1968 primaries in each state poll-watchers were intimidated by opposition goons, ejected physically from the polls and even arrested on trumped-up charges. He declares that many ghosts were found to have registered — in one case, 21 from a single building that had been destroyed months before. The same kind of thing occurred in the registration processes in different states.

But the effect of having the poll-watchers was dramatic. In one ward in Chicago the total vote in 1960 had been 22,236, but when poll-watchers were stationed in 28 out of the 50 precincts, the vote fell to 16,049 in 1968. This, Mr. Nichols says, was "a fair measure of the illegal and ghost votes" previously cast.

Mr. Nichols points out that in the 1960 election, which Mr. Nixon lost, the latter trailed John F. Kennedy by only 122,702 votes out of the 69,000,000 cast, and that shifts of 23,117 votes in Texas and 4,430 in Illinois would have given Mr. Nixon 51 decisive electoral votes and made him President. Mr. Nichols says there was ample evidence of voting "irregularities" at that time in those areas.

John N. Mitchell, who now is Attorney General, was the man who acted on behalf of Mr. Nixon in 1968 in helping to set up, with the assistance of Mr. Nichols, the bipartisan army of 100,000 volunteers who worked to insure an honest election. Mr. Mitchell recommended to Congress last Thursday that the Attorney General be empowered to send federal examiners and election observers into any county "if he determines that their presence is necessary to protect the right of citizens to vote."

Mr. Mitchell proposed also that a presidential advisory commission be established "to study the effects which literacy tests have upon minority groups, to study the problem of election frauds, and to report to Congress its findings and recommendations for any new legislation protecting the right to vote." He declared that "responsible citizenship does not necessarily imply literacy" and that "responsible voting does not necessarily imply an education."

But the truth of the matter is that literacy makes it easy for election irregularities to occur. Unless the whole subject of literacy is re-examined impartially, it may turn out that the opportunities for fraud and the bribery of voters will be increased if all literacy tests are abandoned. Signs Ho Chi Minh May Be Getting Set for Secret Deal

By RAY CROMLEY
NEA Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA) —

Some of President Nixon's analysts see signs the growing Sino-Soviet conflict may be bringing hard pressure on Ho Chi Minh to reach some sort of an accommodation in South Vietnam.

When Ho began arming his men with modern Chinese weapons and his cities with Soviet anti-aircraft arms, he made himself dependent on continuous doses of heavy aid from Peking and Moscow.

If China and Russia become too deeply involved, the danger is Red China will cut sharply its supply of weapons, ammunition, food and other assistance. Russian aid, which comes largely by rail through China, would likewise almost certainly be curtailed heavily. The closing of the Suez Canal has already made shipping Soviet material to Hanoi by sea, more expensive.

Ho knows these facts. He has already issued orders to his troops to conserve arms, ammunition and other war material.

There are signs Hanoi calculates future replacements may be somewhat limited. Temporarily at least, the amount of war supplies carried down the Ho Chi Minh trails seems to have dwindled.

One elementary rule of guerrilla war is that to be successful, the guerrilla must have time on his side. He must be able to outwit the enemy at the conference table. He must have time to work on enemy public opinion and morale. He must have time to whittle slowly at enemy economic and political strength. He must give the impression that he is willing and able to stay at the game forever, if necessary.

Once time is no longer on his side, a guerrilla operation loses much of its strength. Farmers, officials, merchants and workers, who have been bearing the load of the war for 15 or 20 years, figure they can wait out another year or two. Resistance to the guerrillas rises. Their political and military strength begins to fade.

To some analysts here, the creation by the Communists of the Provisional Revolutionary Government may indicate Ho now believes time is no longer with him.

The important fact about that new "government" is that some old familiar faces have now faded to the background. All those in the National Liberation Front who were not tightly disciplined members of the Hanoi-operated Communist party were eliminated from the top positions in the new "government."

A guerrilla force — when it is growing — expands politically by the creation of a series of larger and larger numbers of the population and key men with a wide following in various areas of the society.

Normally, such fronts become open Communist groups when the battle is won, the Reds are taking over, or when a crisis has been reached and the guerrillas must retreat and take hard-handed action in which orders from above are quickly and unquestionably obeyed, regardless of who or what is sacrificed in the operation.

Since the Communists have not taken over in South Vietnam, some administration Vietnam watchers reason Hanoi is clearing the ineffectives and wobblers out of the Viet Cong ranks preparatory to hard secret political bargaining with the South Vietnamese.

Even if these analysts are correct, and Ho is now ready for a deal, Ho's concept of time is such that the talks could take a year, or two years. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Drew Pearson Says Nixon Must Choose Between GOP Reactionaries and Liberals

WASHINGTON — Sooner or later President Nixon has got to decide whether he's going to stick with the vigorous and growing liberal wing of the Republican party or with the hoary oldsters led by that dramatic apostle of reaction, Sen. Everett McKinley Dirksen of Illinois. The President can't do a balancing act between the two much longer.

Already Senate GOP liberals are getting restless. The party elected some promising young Senators last November, most of them from states where the Negro-labor-progressive vote is heavy, and they know they can't get reelected if they don't revitalize the Grand Old Party under an up-to-date image.

That's why Sen. Charles Goodell of New York, one of the bright stars among the new Republicans, called Dirksen an "obstructionist," thereby causing the old basso profundo from Illinois to sound off for 40 minutes against Goodell at a private luncheon.

Goodell stuck to his guns, however.

"No one man should be permitted to veto a Presidential appointment," he said after Dr. John Knowles was blocked as Assistant Secretary of HEW by Dirksen and the AMA. "Yet the American Medical Association and the minority leader (Dirksen) now have succeeded in such a veto."

That's also why young Sen. Charles Mathias of Maryland remarked that the revolt has "already begun," and why Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, former chairman of the GOP National Committee and assistant to Dirksen as GOP whip, warned: "How much more of this before there is a liberal GOP rebellion? Not very much."

Sen. Scott did not mention Dirksen. He didn't have to. For in case after case the stubborn Senator from Illinois has gone directly counter to his President and each time his President has retreated. Here is the roll call of Dirksen victories.

1. Dirksen axed a revision of the Export Control Act barring trade with communist countries just at a time when his President was planning a trip to Romania, a country which we have encouraged to be independent and which wants more than anything else trade with the USA.

Sens. Ed Muskie, Me., and Walter Mondale, Minn., had worked out a liberalized East-West trade policy, but Dirksen reacted as if the nation was in dire peril. Quickly, Nixon retreated. Meanwhile Japan, West Germany and other American allies continue doing a thriving business selling goods to communist countries, which American merchants under the old law cannot do.

2. Dirksen is the sole Senate force pushing for a Constitutional convention in order to reverse the Supreme Court's one-man-one-vote ruling for the reapportionment of state legislatures. Many state legislatures have already reapportioned and find that the ruling gives a much fairer break to the suburbs and big cities, most of them in dire trouble from lack of legislative representation.

Yet Dirksen persists in demanding that a Constitutional convention be called for the first time since 1787 to revamp the Constitution of George Washington to his own taste.

Most of Sen. Dirksen's Senate colleagues are so scared of this move that Sen. Sam Ervin of North Carolina, a former judge and a conservative Democrat, has introduced legislation aimed at heading Dirksen off.

Despite this, the alleged Senate leader of the Nixon administration threatens to tack his Constitutional convention bill onto a bill confirming ex-Secretary Robert McNamara to be a director of the Smithsonian Institution.

3. The Dirksen roadblock of Dr. Knowles is too recent to require review here. But this was only part of a list of Presidential appointments which Dirksen has either engineered or blocked. They include:

A. Boosted Otto Otepka, only government servant ever found guilty of violating Presidential security who was promoted as a reward for doing so.

B. Fired Cliff Alexander, Negro chairman of the Equal Employment Opportunities Commission.

C. Fired William Driver, most efficient veterans administrator to serve since Gen. Omar Bradley.

D. Appointed Charles A. Baim as a federal judge in Chicago on Dirksen's recommendation though Judge Jacob Braud states Baim is antisemitic.

E. Secured key jobs for such friends as Robert Podesta as Assistant Secretary of Commerce; James Hittle as Assistant Secretary of the Navy; James Smith as Farm Home Administrator; and John Chapman as Deputy General Services Administrator.

Skeptical Press
The power of Ev Dirksen in a Republican administration has caused some Republican newspapers to take a new look at him. They have decided that Ev isn't the delightful, harmless, vaudeville performer who once needed Democratic presidents, but, rather, a roadblock in the path of a new Republican administration.

Behind President Nixon's sudden decision to visit Communist Rumania this summer is a two-hour talk he had with President Nicolae Ceausescu in the winter of 1967. Some time afterward Ceausescu told me that he was impressed, "Nixon is a practical man," he said. "He wants peace and so do we. I think we can do business with him."

My interview with president Ceausescu took place last fall when it seemed certain Nixon would be elected President and when Rumania was on tenderhooks over reports that Russian troops were on its border ready to duplicate its earlier invasion of Czechoslovakia. Ceausescu has studied Nixon's background carefully. He knows all about his record as a Communist-hunter back in the old days of McCarthyism when Nixon was an energetic member of the House Un-American Activities Committee. Nevertheless he likes Nixon's general approach to peace and also Nixon's view that the smaller countries of Europe must play a part in its destiny.

The latter was especially important to Rumania. For it has been constantly worried about its big Communist neighbor and about the idea that this neighbor, Soviet Russia, might form an official alliance with the United States. Nixon, then a private citizen, assured him that if he had anything to do with it, this would not be so.

Today Nixon is in a position to have a great deal to do about agreement with the Soviet Union, and though President Ceausescu may not know it his thinking is somewhat along the lines of close alliance or understanding between the two great nuclear powers regarding spheres of influence.

Thus Nixon has decided that the United States will not interfere with what Russia has done or will do in Czechoslovakia, or for that matter other eastern European countries. This, he has decided, is Russia's sphere of influence. On the other hand he wants Russia to keep out of the American sphere of influence in Latin America.

This thinking will not be pleasing to President Ceausescu. To him it will not go nearly as far as the steps taken by the Johnson administration when Secretary of State Dean Rusk, meeting with NATO minister last fall, asked for a commitment to aid both Yugoslavia and Rumania if invaded by Russia.

In going to Rumania at this time, President Nixon takes some risks regarding his upcoming missile negotiations with Russia. This is not the best time to antagonize a nation with whom he wants a missile and an ABM agreement. And next to China and Yugoslavia, Rumania has been the chief rebel against Moscow among the Communist nations.

On the whole however, Rumania has played its Soviet policy smart. It has been the independent friend of all countries. It has been the would-be, though unsuccessful, mediator between China and Russia. It has refused to go along with other Communist countries in breaking with Israel.

It has voted with the United States on many occasions in the United Nations. And it has been consistently friendly with the United States even though the USA has given it nothing in return.

When Mr. Nixon was a Congressman from California he frowned on and voted against President Truman's policy of offering surplus American wheat to Yugoslavia and other European satellite countries. And when President he decided to continue the anti-rubber policy with Communist nations.

Under Kennedy and Johnson there was a trend toward lifting this policy. The State Department has given the green light to the Firestone Rubber Company to sell a petrochemical plant to Rumania and the deal was consummated. Then a rubber competitor of Firestone's conspired with The Young Americans for Freedom to set up a picket line and boycott of Firestone for dealing with a Communist country.

Firestone chickened and canceled the contract. West Germany picked up the deal instead.

Actually Rumania is not desperate for American trade. It is a booming country, with a higher national growth than any country except Japan and Switzerland. But it has asked for most favored nation treatment with the United States. Unquestionably this will come up between Nixon and Ceausescu. But the main thing the two Presidents will discuss when they meet in August will be how to improve general relations between the United States and the Communist world. Ceausescu is one of the shrewdest leaders in Eastern Europe and as he himself says: "Nixon is a practical man. He wants peace and so do we. I believe we can do business with him."

Democratic Conventions

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
NEA Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA) —

The Democrats' committee on reforming national convention delegate selections probably will recommend that perhaps 15 to 20 per cent of each state's delegation be chosen by means other than direct popular vote.

To militant party reformers who have been clamoring since the height of the 1968 McCarthy campaign for more participatory democracy in delegate choosing, the prospect of continuing some indirect selection may look like trimming to the "old politics."

But the militant view is well-represented on the reform committee itself. Off their hearings around the country so far this year; they and their colleagues have about concluded that the net effect of a direct popular vote for all delegates is sometimes to deny fair representation to certain small but significant constituent elements in the population.

In some states, a completely open vote would produce elected delegations with no blacks, few if any young, probably no poor. All of these are constituencies the ardent reformers particularly are trying to warp into the delegate process.

As some militant committee members see it, no villain need necessarily be sought to explain such results. Says one senator:

"It's just the way it works out in some cases."

Here and there the minority constituencies—black, Mexican-American or whatever—are truly tiny. In some instances they are, proportionately, under-represented. Some out is weak. With the young times organization to get them and the poor, distractions enter in.

The developing committee view, then, is that maybe up to a fifth of each state delegation should be chosen not by direct vote but by state convention or state committee — with deliberate effort to include minority and other elements which otherwise would be left out.

There is a special irony in all this, since the long-established practice of choosing hundreds of "at large" delegates in state conventions often under tight party leader control was singled out by reformers last year as a highly "unrepresentative" method.

Just as a matter of record, the Democrats last year selected 848 delegates at large out of a total of 3,099. The percentage was 27.

But that percentage is somewhat misleading, since at large delegates were in fact chosen by direct primary vote in New Hampshire, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Florida, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Nebraska, South Dakota, Wisconsin, Oregon and California.

Probably the proportion chosen by state party groups under varying degrees of leader control was not too far from the figure the present reform committee is said to be weighing.

Retention of what amounts almost to appointive at large selections in the delegate process might be expected to give heart to practitioners of the old politics. For years they have been loading up these states with key party faithful and financial angels.

Even with new attention to the minorities, the poor and they young, there still would be room, presumably, for some of these old-style selections.

Computer Credit System

ALBANY Two aggressive young businessmen have brought a new business to nine counties in Upstate New York, including Ulster County, to assist small businesses and merchants compete with large department and chain stores in attracting customer credit traffic.

Louis D'Amore, 30, and Robert Riker, 23, have opened offices at 1823 Western Avenue, Albany. The new business, Computer Credit Systems, Inc., a computerized credit card system, is giving an economic lift to small and medium-sized businesses in almost half the states across the nation and serves more than 1,000 customers.

Computer Credit Systems, Inc., an Atlanta, Ga., firm, was established two and one-half years ago by George Naterman, a former graduate and instructor at the Wharton School of Business. It has succeeded in meshing the computer with the growing demand for credit among smaller businesses and relieves merchants of the burden of paying for credit research, issuance of cards, bookkeeping and collection.

Computer Credit works this way:

A holder of a credit card can present the card to a client of CCS. The card serves as evidence that the customer's credit is sound.

The merchant forwards a charge ticket to CCS, which in turn, bills the customer.

Q-I have some shares of Occidental Petroleum $3.60 convertible preferred. I notice the company has some claims against it. Do you consider this a good stock to hold for growth?—A. S.

A—Most large corporations are involved in litigation from one source or another a good part of the time. It is simply a fact of corporate life and the reason for including legal counselors in the management of greater significance is the Machiasport, Maine, refinery project which has been related to a bureaucratic limbo for an indeterminate period. Although OXY's proposal to refine and sell Libyan and Venezuelan crude oil has firm support from New England, political implications involving oil import quotas, favoritism and so forth leave the future of this project up in the air.

While the company is primarily an oil and gas producer, 40 per cent of sales is derived from chemicals, sulphur and coal production. Earnings last year were $2.34 a share on sales of $1.8 billion. First-quarter revenues rose 31 per cent while earnings were up sharply to 75 cents a share. I rate Occidental a strong growth hold.

Q—Could you give me information on Safeguard Industries? I own 46 shares and wonder if I should sell.—N. V.

A—Safeguard Industries has through acquisitions and internal growth secured a firm position in business forms and data processing systems. Automotively replacement parts presently account for a slightly smaller percentage of sales. Eleven acquisitions were completed in 1968, one of which represented a new direction for the company—visual communication and marketing.

Three new companies have been—or are—in the process of being merged into Safeguard.

Pinajian Works To Be Displayed At Woodstock

WOODSTOCK—Gardner Art Gallery, Woodstock, is again making use of the Gallery grounds, but this time for an open air exhibition of oil paintings by Art Pinajian to be held during the afternoons of July 4, 5 and 6. This one-man show will be made up of the newest paintings by Pinajian who is a long time summer resident of Woodstock.

This artist left his career as a commercial artist to go to the Art Students League of Woodstock and then on to exhibit in the field of fine arts. His paintings have been shown in the major large exhibitions of Woodstock and elsewhere as he is a very productive painter. He has painted the human figure, weaving it into landscapes making a harmonious unit, with subdued colors, a welcome relief from some of the surrounding brightness. His technique varies with his interpretation. The sizes of the paintings vary from the small to the very large. His work is individual, appealing to the discriminating observer and collector.

Although the outdoor exhibition will last only three afternoons during the July Fourth weekend, the Gardner Gallery will then exhibit the larger paintings by Pinajian within the Gallery throughout the month of July along with other figure painters.

VFW Convention Gets Underway; 5,000 Delegates

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) I About 5,000 delegates were expected here today to open the 1969 New York State Veterans of Foreign Wars convention.

A July 4 parade and a visit by the national commander-in-chief were to highlight the four-day meeting.

Committee meetings were held Wednesday with the main business of the convention getting under way this morning. VFW units will march through downtown Syracuse Friday evening. Prizes will be awarded for the best drum and bugle corps and bands.

State Money For Ulster

ALBANY—State Comptroller Arthur Levitt has announced the distribution of $376,720 to Ulster County for social services for the month of July.

Levitt also announced the distribution of $269,676 to the county for settlement of claims for the quarter ending March 31.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (UPI)—Prices were firm at the opening today on the New York Stock Exchange. Turnover was moderate.

The odds seem to be against the market's continuation of the good gains it has made all week. With a long weekend coming up some traders may consolidate their positions against the possibility of weekend. Still the list may receive some support from stronger Vietnam peace hopes indicated by Secretary of State William P. Rogers who said U.S. troops may be withdrawn sooner if the current slow fighting pace persists.

Shortly after the opening the UPI market indicator was 0.46 per cent higher with 271 issues traded. Advances outnumbered declines, 131 to 72. The Dow Jones industrial average was fractionally higher.

JUST KEPT GOING — 'Willy' and 'Cuddles', West Highland White Terriers in Marysville, Wash., were expecting pups but the usual number, one, two or three. 'Cuddles' wouldn't give up after a mere three pups, she kept on going for almost seven hours to produce a grand total of nine offspring. That's a lot for such little dogs said the vet, but the parents are proud of their six girls and three boys, and 'Willy' is just glad he doesn't have to put them through college. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

New Law on Medicaid Bills

NEW YORK (UPI)—A court order has temporarily stopped enforcement of a new state law which requires Medicaid recipients to pay 20 per cent of their doctor, dentist and drug bills when not hospitalized.

Judge Constance Baker Motley of the U. S. District Court signed the temporary order on Wednesday. It affects the co-insurance amendment to the Medicaid law which was passed by the state legislature in March.

Burns Backs Procaccino Bid

NEW YORK (UPI) — State and to be thinking of backing someone else, possibly Mayor John Lindsay.

Democratic Chairman John J. Burns Wednesday endorsed Con-troller Mario A. Procaccino for mayor and urged liberals who are thinking of opposing him to talk to him before they take a hard line.

Rep. Hugh Carey already has provisionally announced he is a candidate to oppose Procaccino, a fellow Democrat, and Rep. William F. Ryan says he is "thinking of entering the race" against Procaccino.

Bronx Borough President Herman Badillo, who came in third in the Democratic primary behind Procaccino and former Mayor Robert F. Wagner, is said to be keeping the door open for his own possible candidacy.

Our fungicide makes the forbidden fruit even more tempting.

Until now, fungicides did one thing: controlled disease. But now Polyram does more than that. It gives apples a beauty treatment. So they grow up with clear complexions and smooth beautiful skins. It doesn't stop on the surface, either. It works all the way down to the core.

It does a few other lovely things, too. It fights European red mites. It prevents scab and cedar rust and fly speck. Even sooty blotch. And it doesn't cause russetting on sensitive varieties. Polyram: it's an 80% wettable powder. It's easy to handle, leaves a low visible residue, and can be sprayed to within 7 days of harvest. Try it.

Sister M. Henrietta Is Feted

More than 80 nurses of Benedictine Hospital feted Sister M. Henrietta Hemming Tuesday night at a dinner held in her honor at Liguori's Restaurant.

After ten years service as director of nursing, Sister Henrietta, at her own request, has returned to staff nursing.

As director, Sister Henrietta was responsible for the organization of the Nursing Service Department and the formation of the Nursing Service Policy and Procedure Manual. She directed the Candy Striper Program for a number of years and assisted administration in giving quality nursing to the patients of Benedictine.

She is being honored for her dedication both as a member of a religious order and for her work in nursing service.

Sister Henrietta is a graduate of Benedictine Academy, Elizabeth, N.J. Benedictine Hospital School of Nursing and Seton Hall University.

She was operating room supervisor and an instructor in fundamental nursing before becoming director of nursing.

A member of District 11, New York State Nurses' Association, she also belongs to the Hudson Valley League for Nursing, Northeastern Association of Conference of Directors of Nurses and a member of the National League for Nursing. Sister Henrietta also served as treasurer of Benedictine Hospital Alumnae Association for many years.

Noted Music Director Resigns Post

LEONARD STINE

At a meeting of the Kingston Schools Consolidated Board of Education on July 1, announcement was made of the resignation of Leonard Stine as Director of Music.

A leader in the music world for many years, Mr. Stine was graduated from Ithaca College with a Bachelor of Science Degree in Education and a major in Voice. He received a professional diploma in violin from the same institution, a Master of Arts Degree from New York University, and did graduate study at Cornell University. He later pursued further study in Europe.

Active in the Music Educators' National Conference, he has also served the New York State School Music Association as vice-president in charge of vocal music for two terms. He was chairman of the Classification Committee for Choral Music on several occasions, and was a member of the committee which formulated the New York State Syllabus for Secondary School Music.

He has taught two years as a member of the faculty of the University of Rhode Island Summer Session, and twice has been conductor of the Laurel Music Camp sponsored by the Connecticut Music Educators' Association.

In 1961 Mr. Stine was awarded a Fellowship in the National Association of Teachers of Singing. He is a member of the New York City Singing Teachers' Association, the New York State Council of Administrators of Music Education and a life member of the rs of Music Education, and American Choral Directors' Association.

Mr. Stine has gained tremendous recognition for his choral work and has been guest conductor and adjudicator in over one hundred music festivals in ten states ranging from New England to Arkansas.

Locally, Mr. Stine received the Page One Award in Music from the Kingston Newspaper Guild in 1959. He is a member of the Board of Directors of the Community Concert Association, and of the Board of Directors of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Society. He was formerly choir director at the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer.

The Kingston High School Choir under his direction has won fifteen top ratings in state and national competitions, and has toured New York, the New England States, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania, and has made two concert trips to South Carolina where one of its appearances was before the governor and state legislature. The group has sung four times for the Southeastern Zone Conference of the New York State Teachers Association, and has given demonstrations of Voice Class Techniques at the State University at Potsdam, New York University, Gettysburg College, and at several of the annual conferences of the New York State School Music Association and the Music Educators' National Conference. In 1963 the group was honored by being invited to sing at the opening session of the Music Educators' National Conference which was held in Atlantic City.

The Kingston High School Choir sang a joint concert with the Vassar College Choir, and was twice featured in the concert series sponsored by the Dutchess County Music Association. It performed the Berlioz Requiem under the direction of Robert Shaw at Potsdam, and in 1962 sang at the dedication of the National Headquarters of Volkswagen of America at Englewood Cliffs, New Jersey. The Choir has also sung at the Convocation of the Board of Regents in Albany, and was invited by Lowell Thomas to appear on the WROW CBS Cavalcade of Stars.

Probably the most important contribution of the program developed by Mr. Stine, is that it has opened the door for many students who have gone on to pursue careers as professional singers, conductors and teachers in many schools, colleges, and universities.

Mr. Stine plans to maintain his residence in Kingston, and devote his time to private vocal teaching.

Summer Sessions Being Planned; Creekside Studio

Creekside Studio of Dance, Drama and Speech Arts in Hurley has begun registration for a Summer Session which will include a course in Origami, the Japanese art of paper folding. Registration will continue through July 11.

The Hurley Studio will offer a varied program of Creative Dramatics, Puppets, Theatre, Folk Dance and Speech as well as Origami, for children from pre-school age to 14, with graded classes. The emphasis will be on stimulating and developing the imagination through the medium of dramatic readings and presentations. Students will learn folk dances of many nations, specially arranged for age groupings.

Origami, the art of creating shapes of birds, fish, flowers and objects from the simplicity of a colored square of paper, provides children with a fascinating and worthwhile creative hobby. A scrapbook will be made of each lesson by the students as a permanent record of the class.

Students will also attend local children's plays and shows throughout the summer to become acquainted with theatre in many forms. A Creative Arts Day is planned for the summer session in which the work of the students will be on display.

Mrs. H. Van Wyck Darrow, director of the studio, has a Master's Degree in Speech and Drama from Columbia University where she studied Children's Theatre production, and did predoctoral study in the Speech and Hearing Clinic at the University of Washington. Mrs. Darrow has appeared with the Pittsburgh Opera Company Corps de Ballet, and toured as Entertainment Director for Special Services producing and directing plays and musicals in Japan and Europe, where she studied the native folk dances of the countries.

A former speech therapist with the Kingston City Schools Consolidated, Mrs. Darrow was also on the staff of the Cerebral Palsy Center, as speech and hearing therapist.

Mrs. George Economos learned the inventive art of origami as a student in her native Japan. An art major at the University of Japan, Mrs. Economos has taught Origami at the Jewish Community Center, and at children's library programs sponsored by the Junior League of Kingston. The instructor is also qualified in the Ikenobo School of Flower Arranging, and has classes locally in this art.

Creekside Studio, which is located on Old Route 209, Hurley, recently completed the fall and winter session of the initial season, and will continue a year-round program with the summer program. Classes will be held Tuesday and Thursday from 9 a.m. to 12 noon, in the air-conditioned studio. Information regarding registration may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Darrow in Hurley.

TEA TIME by Sally Michael Avery is one of many paintings completed by this talented artist from New York and Woodstock. Sally Michel's works will be featured in the Milton Avery Family exhibition which opens on Friday, July 4 at Jarvis Gallery, Broadview Road, Woodstock. The works of her late husband, Milton Avery, will be shown along with paintings by their daughter March Avery. The show can be viewed from 1 to 6 p.m. Admission is free.

Hints from Heloise

By HELOISE CRUISE.

Dear Heloise:

My two small sons ride their tricycles along the sidewalk, up and down the block. Usually they stop and play in someone's yard and never know when to come home.

I finally realized that time means nothing to children, so I splurged and bought two bell timers. And my husband wired them onto the handle bars.

Now when they go off on their tricycles, I set the bell timer. Then, no matter where they are or whose yard they are playing in, they hear that timer and take off for home like scalded dogs.

Don't you think that was a great idea?

Tired Mother

Not only do I think it was great but I think it's fabulous.

You were so right when you said children don't know the difference between fifteen minutes and two hours. You're teaching them punctuality. We all love you no end.

Dear Heloise:

When we visited my in-laws with our six-month-old daughter, my mother-in-law put her ironing board up in the bathroom when I bathed the baby and covered it with a waterproof sheet.

I used it for a dressing table much easier.

The Gander

Study 5-Bedroomer

By JACK McEENEY

Today's design is a sturdy cape type dwelling with a capacity for five bedrooms. This design still maintains its position in the highly favored home styles in terms of economy, serviceability and space. Although the plan shows five bedrooms, a study locates two of these on the first floor to form a complete two-bedroom living unit. The other three bedrooms on the upper floor can be finished economically, as the need arises and the family expands.

The first floor of "The Gander" has all the features required by the average American family. The U-shaped family type kitchen is well equipped with counter and cabinets, including a bar extending six feet from the wall. Living room features modern fireplace and picture window. From the foyer is a full hall which allows passage to the rear and also to the above bedrooms without disturbance to the formality of the living room.

The size of the basic house is 26'x38' for a total of 988 square feet of living space on the first floor. Overall length, including breezeway and garage, comes to 60 feet. The exterior is made up of stock white cedar shingles, unpainted, all around, with rust trim and all doors and windows are lumber yard stock items. Complete working blueprints for "The Gander" are available at moderate cost by using the accompanying coupon.

Rehandle With Care

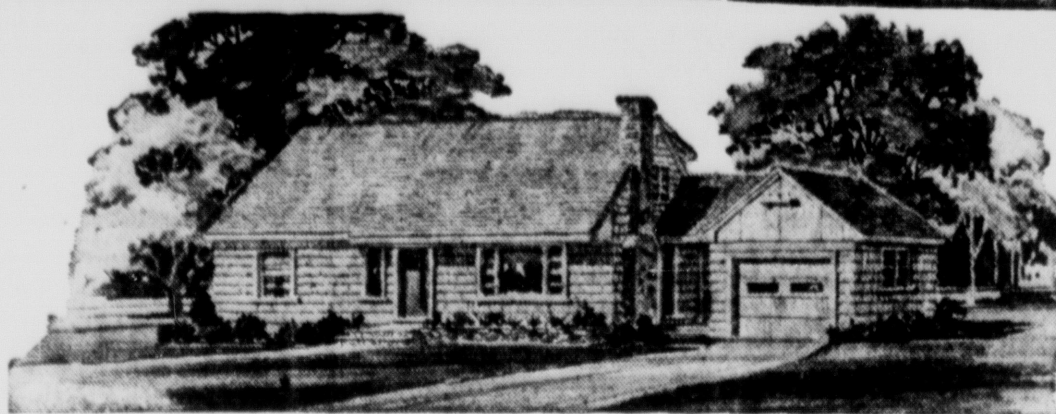

By MR. FIX

It's a shame to give up a good hammer, ax or hatchet. Therefore, when the handle cracks or breaks, it's a natural thing to want to replace it, the metal head still being perfectly good.

It's a fine idea and one that should be pursued, but pursue it slowly and carefully. The reason a new hammer or ax hefts so nicely, seems to feel just right, is that it is a planned balance of handle and head.

When you replace the handle, it is not something you can do lightly. That old tool is not going to be the same, nor perform the same, just because you put a new handle on the old head. Try to find a handle that duplicates the original as closely as possible in weight and size. Examine the wood carefully and avoid crooked grain. Try to find one in which the edge grain goes from one end to the other. Flat grain should be on the sides. If the grain runs from one side of the handle to the other, toss it back and pick another.

World's hardest timber is black ironwood from the West Indies, the southern tip of Florida, Yucatan and British Honduras.

It's the Time Now For Famous Homes

By VIVIAN BROWN

AP Newsfeatures Writer

Summer is a good time to learn how the other half lives.

That is one reason for the long queues on house tours. Ticket proceeds usually are earmarked for charity, and that draws people too. The worthiness of the cause prompts people to open homes that otherwise you might not see.

People can't wait to snoop around the homes of the famous and be near famous people and those who live in old or palatial establishments. What kind of furniture do they have? What are the color schemes?

"I wouldn't have opened my house for anyone but Save the Children Federation," said prolific author Faith Baldwin, welcoming some of the hundreds of tourists who traipsed through her Fable Farm in Norwalk, Conn.

Proceeds from the tour sponsored by the Westport Young Women's League will help support the federation's American Indian program. It is one of Miss Baldwin's favorite charities.

The two-story, century-old farm house sits on top of a hill that is prettily dotted with dogwood. The house has lovely old floorboards except in an addition built in the 1800's.

It is a comfortable house that seems just right for Miss Baldwin, who is Mrs. Hugh Cuthrell in private life.

A house tour reveals that just about everybody is a collector. Miss Baldwin's "thing" is owls. She has a large collection of porcelain and ceramic owls grouped together, an owl painting on moire, owl decorated trays and an owl cutting board in the kitchen.

A Guide For Weeders

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

There aren't as many orchid growers as, for instance, African violet fanciers, but they are an enthusiastic lot and deserving of special recognition among those who like to get soil under their fingernails.

So off to Brazil we take you because that is where more species of orchids are found than in any other country in the world. Sao Paulo, Brazil, is where the largest and oldest continuing orchid exhibition was held this year.

About 3,500 orchids were displayed at the 41st annual show by Sao Paulo orchidologists.

Brazilian orchidologists say 36,000 orchids are registered in their country and that perhaps an equal number grow wild there, yet to be discovered and registered.

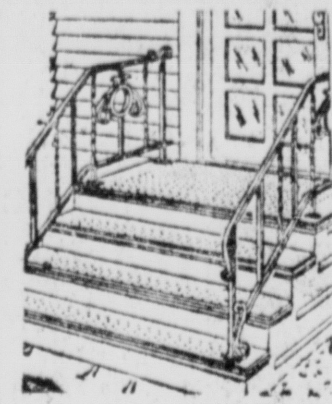

First prize at the exhibit this year went to a yellow, white and pink orchid of the laelia purpurata species, exhibited by Rolf Altenburg of Rio de Janeiro. It is a new species he discovered and recorded. He named it after his mother, Sonia Altenburg.

Another new species that drew much interest was the Odontoglossum, a rugged orchid of white, yellow and maroon coloring. This one grows best in cooler climates, generally in the mountains.

Orchids generally bloom from 12 to 15 days. Some of those exhibited at Sao Paulo brought the equivalent to $250.

For Reggie Jackson - The Magic Number is 29

(By United Press International)

All of a sudden Reggie Jackson has a realistic magic number — one which would mean fame and fortune unprecedented in baseball history for a player of his age.

The number is 29, the number of home runs he must hit in the Oakland Athletics' remaining 90 games to surpass Roger Maris' Athletics' 50 victory over the Seattle Pilots. The three after his 154th game and, Jackson, who never before hit Chicago White Sox 4-2, the raised his record to 12.5 for the his 11th victory and 13th record of 61 homers in 162 games put Jackson 10 games behind Maris' 1961 pace and Ruth's 1927 pace. At 23, Jackson is thus in an early jump on the paces of his predecessors that he can realistically reach 60 before his 113 and recording his third Baltimore Orioles 3-2.

Tom Tresh drove in three runs with his third homer in the Detroit Tigers beat the two games and his seventh Boston Red Sox 7-0, the straight hit and Don Wert also Minnesota Twins downed the homered as Denny McLain connected in the first, sixth and California Angels 1-0, the in the previous game, is now Yankees, who swept their two-hitting 340 since being acquired game series with the Orioles. Horace Clarke had three hits and Frank Fernandez two to lead the Yankees' 10 hit attack which tagged Marcelino Lopez with his second defeat.

Relief pitcher Ron Perranoski chalked up his 14th save and homer for the Twins in a game halted by rain after 8 1/2 innings. Dave Boswell received credit for his 10th victory against eight losses while Tommie Joh was the loser.

Rookie Is Winner
Rookie Bill Butler pitched a four-hitter for his fourth victory and Bob Oliver drove in the only run of the Kansas City-California game with an infield out in the first inning. Butler, 22, struck out six and walked two in raising his record to 4-3.

Brant Alyea and Paul Casanova drove in two runs each and Dick Bosman and Darold Knowles combined in a nine-hitter for the Senators, who ran their winning streak to six games. Sam McDowell, who had won seven straight games, suffered his seventh loss against 10 victories. Tony Horton homered for the Indians' run.

Mel Stottlemyre allowed eight hits but went the distance for the Yankees.

CHEERS FOR A HERO — In the top of the ninth inning, Reggie Jackson walked to his rightfield position and bowed to the hundreds of young fans who were cheering Jackson wildly following his third homer of the evening in the eighth against Seattle. "Reggie's Regiment" had plenty to cheer about as the Oakland outfielder went 10 games ahead of Roger Maris' record home run pace and 23 games up on Babe Ruth. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

The Allen Legacy Inspires Phillies

(By United Press International)

Richie Allen may be gone but his teachings live on among the Philadelphia Phillies.

Johnny Briggs and Larry Hise starred for Philadelphia Wednesday night as the Phils beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 14-4 for their ninth consecutive victory. Briggs drove in three runs and Hise had three hits and scored four runs as the Phils stretched the streak begun the night after Allen jumped the team in New York.

And Hise gives most of the credit for his recent success to Allen. He taught me to get the head of the bat out first and swing down," said the young outfielder, who started slowly but has been hitting at well over a .300 clip for the past three weeks. Before that I was getting my fists out first and swinging up at the ball.

Briggs, who had one of the lowest batting averages in the National League last week, has suddenly caught fire. I told someone that once I get to .290, it should be all downhill ... because it was all uphill getting there."

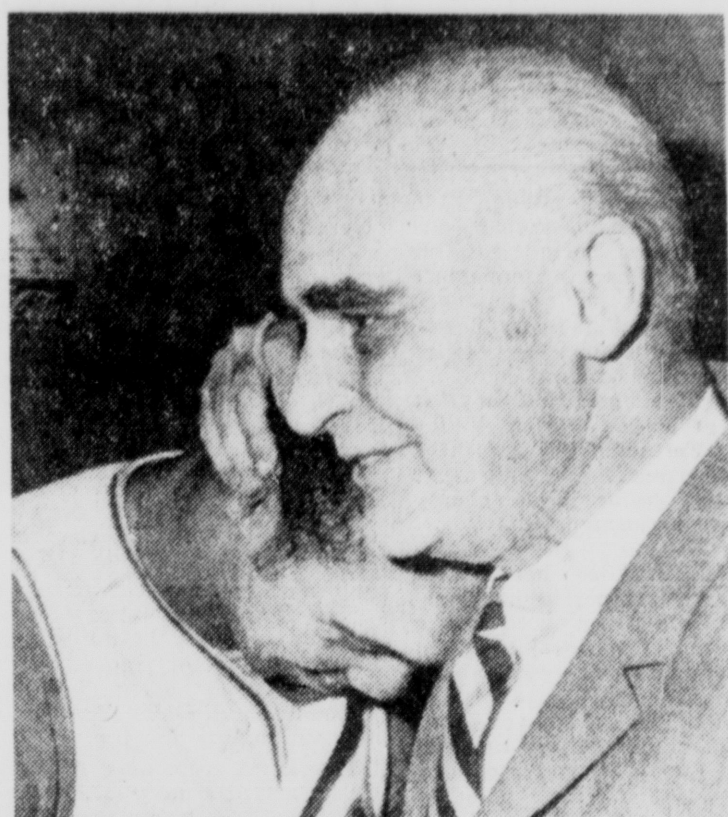

Elsewhere, Chicago downed Montreal 4-2, Houston ripped Los Angeles 8-2, Atlanta beat Cincinnati 9-4, New York outlasted St. Louis 6-4 in 14 innings and San Francisco defeated San Diego 6-3.

Reliever Al Ruffo drove in three runs for the Phils with a two-run single and a squeeze bunt. Briggs homered in the third and drove in two more runs with a single in the five-run eighth. Hise had two singles and a triple, scoring after each hit.

Rookie Jim Qualls had two doubles and a triple, drove in two runs and scored another to lead the Cubs over the Expos.

With the score 1-1 in the fourth, Qualls tripled after Willie Smith singled and Randy Hundley walked. He scored Chicago's fourth run on Don Kessinger's sacrifice fly.

Orlando Cepeda smashed a three-run double in the second inning and Claude Raymond, who drove in two runs, pitched a 2-3 strong innings of relief as the Braves downed the Reds for the third straight time to move into first place in the Western Division.

CHARLES FINLEY AND HIS BOY

Not a 60-Homer Man Says Oakland Hero

OAKLAND (UPI) — Reggie Jackson pleads he couldn't stay in the same ballpark with the likes of a Ruth, Mays, Mantle or Hank Aaron, but his bat is speaking louder than his words.

Not even Babe Ruth, whom Jackson reveres as "the greatest home run hitter that ever lived," swatted more baseballs out of the park through July 2 than Jackson, the Pennsylvania strongboy from Wyncote who turned 23 on May 18.

The rightfielder of the Oakland A's belted his 31st, 32nd and 33rd home runs—all solo shots—Wednesday night in helping smokebatter John Odom beat the Seattle Pilots 5-0. Odom extended his scoreless inning string to 19, allowed only five singles, fanned eight and hit a bases-empty homer, his second this season and both came off Seattle pitchers.

Jackson, who hit 29 homers all of last season, has cracked five in his last three games to maintain one of the most torrid home-run paces in baseball history.

But winning ballgames, not hitting home runs, is the young slugger's major aim.

"I'm not going to hit 60 home runs this year or any year...I'm not a 60-home run hitter. I just try and make contact," Reggie told a cluster of newsmen, which seems to grow larger with each home run, as he munched on lasagne and punch after delighting a slim crowd of 5,012 including A's owner Charles O. Finley with his first three-homer spurge in the majors.

"To me," added Jackson, "Ruth is the greatest home run hitter that ever lived. There will never be another Babe Ruth. They even named a candy bar after him."

"I'm only a second year player. You can't compare me with Mays, Mantle, Aaron or Ruth. I've got a long way to go yet to prove myself."

Jackson has endeared himself with bleacher fans in right field who hoist a sign reading "Reggie's Regiment" every time the outfielder comes to bat. To show his appreciation, Jackson waved his cap at the fans after each of his homers.

Visiting his private box for the first time since April 9, Finley was delighted with the prodigious performance of his super-star. After Jackson hit his first homer off starter and loser Marty Pattin (7-6) in the opening frame, Finley smiled and nodded.

Reggie struck out in the third but then belted the ball 420 feet over the centerfield fence off Pattin while leading off the sixth. That made Finley stand up and clap his hands.

When Jackson cracked his third homer in nearly the same spot off reliever Diego Segui in the eighth, Finley was beside himself with joy. He leaped up and bowed deeply from the waist with his arms outstretched. Later Finley met Jackson in the locker room and shook his hand.

"Congratulations," said Finley.

ley, "This is the first time I've seen three home runs hit in a baseball game and it was you."

Replied Jackson: "Then you ought to come out more often."

A's coach Joe DiMaggio, hardly a slouch of a hitter in his day, said Jackson appears to be improving with age. "He's hot, there's no denying it," said the famed Yankee Clipper. "But he's not doing anything different. He's meeting the ball better and hasn't been striking out as much. He's been around two years and he's seen a lot more pitching."

"That first homer he hit off Pattin was the cheapest one he's hit this year," added DiMaggio. "Only Reggie's power carried it out of here."

Jackson, who claimed he was fortunate "not to miss my pitch," said he got "good fat" as a Pattin curve ball in the first inning and sent a towering drive barely over the 330-foot barrier barely over the rightfield foul line.

Braves' Schedule - Three Games in Two Days

By MORT LAFFIN

KINGSTON — "It's all up to the pitching staff this weekend. If we don't get at least one complete game, hopefully two, gratefully three full games out of these boys, we are going to be in trouble."

Those few words, spoken by Kingston Braves Manager Paul Giannuzzi, sum up exactly what confronts the locals this weekend in the Mid-Hudson Rookie League. The Braves are playing three games in two days, with five boys, including pitching staff ace Charlie Moore, taking part in the All-Star game on the Fourth of July at JFK Memorial Park in Florida, 2 p.m.

After the All-Star game, the Braves travel to Beacon for a Saturday game 2 p.m., against the league-leading Astros. A win here could put the Braves in a tie for first place.

Beacon is in first with Poughkeepsie at 6-4. Kingston is second, 5-4.

Missiles at Dietz

Sunday the Cornwall Missiles come into Dietz Stadium for a doubleheader, the first game is a makeup of last week's postponement, the second is the official start of the second round. The games will start at about 5:30 p.m.

Kingston also has to make up two other games, one with the Poughkeepsie Lasers, the other with the Newburgh Atoms, before the first round is officially over. Neither game had been rescheduled at this writing.

Five All Stars

Besides Moore, Mike Derrenbacher and Jerry "The Hawk" Hawkins will represent the Kingston entry in the All-Star game. Derrenbacher is a fine, all-around performer for the Braves, while "The Hawk" may be just the best outfielder in either division.

Also named to the All-Star team late yesterday were second baseman Mike Patrick and centerfielder Ron Valle. Both boys have performed well for the Braves thus far.

But Derrenbacher, Hawkins, Patrick and Valle isn't what bothers Giannuzzi. What does bother him is how much pitching Moore will have to do in the holiday tilt.

"Charlie has pitched well for us and must be considered to be one of the best hurlers in the League," said the manager. "He has many fans and a lot of them will be at the Fourth of July game. They deserve to see him pitch and he deserves to pitch, but how much he is used will be dictated by the game conditions," said Giannuzzi.

The Braves' mentor also stated that he was quite proud of the other boys for making the team, citing the fact that all five boys have formed a good nucleus for the club this far.

Rapid Ray Zappone, who had control problems his last time out, will get the call against the Astros Saturday. It will be Ray's toughest assignment to date. But, if he can keep that blazing fast ball in the strike zone, he will be tough.

The Braves hold a decision over the Astros in the home opener at Dietz Stadium earlier this season.

Ted Bream, Braves veteran hurler who now owns a 2-0 record tying Moore for most wins on the club, will get one of the starting assignments, probably the first, against the Missiles on Sunday.

Mercer Is Choice

Ed Mercer, star pitcher at Oteora High School, seems to be the logical choice for the second game, although much depends on how many innings Moore had to go in the All-Star tilt and how the Braves have fared in the first two weekend contests.

The statistics:

TIANO'S TOPICS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

Ron Thomas is off to an auspicious start as a relief pitcher for the Batavia Trojans of the New York-Penn League.

As of Tuesday night, the former Kingston High and Wagner College ace had compiled a 0-0 earned run average for the western New York team.

Thomas, whose string of 23 2/3 consecutive scoreless innings is already a Hudson Valley Rookie League legend, had appeared in six games. In seven and two thirds innings, he yielded only 2 hits, walked four, struck out 13 and didn't allow a run. His record is 1-0, his ERA absolutely perfect.

BOB DISTAL, who scouted Thomas and manages the Detroit Tigers farm system team, says he is entirely pleased with Thomas' early showing.

"If he has any flaw at the moment," said Distal, "it's his tendency to stray too far away from the plate when he isn't getting the ball over."

"In other words," Distal added, "he's getting it over the plate most of the time and missing by a wide margin when he doesn't. His overall control record is good, however, and that's only a minor flaw that steady work will cure."

THE TROJANS plan to use Thomas strictly in relief for at least the first month of the season which opened June 21.

One of the reasons for Distal's deliberate pace with Thomas is the fact the Trojans are off flying with 10 wins in their first 11 games.

"Right now we're feeling no pressure on the starting pitchers," said Distal in an obvious understatement. "I'd like to keep my present rotation and work Ron into the lineup when I think he's ready to go the distance."

The feeling here is that Thomas will have a good season with the Trojans and earn promotion in the Tiger farm system. Regrettably, he wasn't picked up by some major league team after his fantastic success in the Rookie League. A full spring training probably would have earned him a starting role.

MEANWHILE, BACK at the Rochester farm, Mike Ferraro is fielding superbly and staying above the .300 mark. His future will be decided in September. . . . Bob Murphy, the 1968 Rookie of the Year on the PGA circuit, is slated for an exhibition next Wednesday at the Concord International, where the LPGA Nationals start July 23. Resident pro Ed Furgol, a former U. S. Open champion, will be in Murphy's foursome. . . . How did we ever fail to mention that Bill Wolven, a 23 handicapper, netted 66 and beat Julius Boros way back on National Golf Day. . . . Steven Hall received a presidential award, certificate and emblem for placing first in the physical fitness program at the Chambers School. . . . Will somebody in the horse show world please settle this old chestnut: who wins at a horse show, the horse or the rider?

TIME FLIES department: It seems like only yesterday when John Cook was playing Little League and Babe Ruth League baseball, summer basketball and then the National Honor Society at Our Lady of Lourdes. Now he's a sophomore at Fordham U. where he played balanced basketball and was on the rugby team. All of which makes Mrs. John A. Cook of Kingston a very happy woman.

There was a slight omission in that story about the proposed Hudson Valley basketball league. Former NBA and ABA players are barred from the circuit. . . . eligible players must reside in the county where the franchise is located. Okay?

YANKEE BALL games look better to us when we eliminate the audio. The huckstering that goes on while the modern Bronx Bombers strive futilely for base hits is too much for this department — an old Yankee fan from way back.

Times have changed when you consider the Old Bombers of Miller Huggins Joe McCarthy and Casey Stengel produced seven Hall of Famers and a host of other stars.

What other all-time major league team can boast a galaxy of performers like Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Joe DiMaggio, Bill Dick, Charlie Ruffing, Herb Pennock and Cooperstown-bound Mickey Mantle?

GIRLS ON BOYS' varsity teams in our state high schools? Sounds crazy and the New York State Public High School Athletic Association brass takes a dim view of the hijinks. But it's here.

The most recent NYSPHAA Spot News, the state organ, reveals that thus far 11 schools have received permission for girls to play on boys' tennis teams, seven schools for golf.

Application for permission to play the boys with the girls must be forwarded to the State Education Department. The NYSPHAA said it "did not become enthusiastic about such change" when it was alerted to the new moves.

"We do applaud, however, the specified conditions and safeguards and the six steps in the procedure for applications."

THE NEW 1969 football rule books will have more than 20 changes, some of which are: A high school team may score two points after a touchdown with a successful run or pass. The goal posts are widened to 23'4" in 1971, optional in 1969 and 1970.

There is to be a 15-yard penalty for kicking or throwing the ball out of the field of play after a touchdown.

Football cleats are to be no longer than one-half inch in 1971, optional in 1969 and 1970.

CASEY STENGEL's return to Shea Stadium for last week's Old Timers Game recalled another bit of Stengelmania.

One night, Old Case, making the rounds as usual, met one of his pitchers staggering into the Yankees' hotel lobby at 3 a.m.

"Drunk again," Stengel snarled. The player paused for a moment before responding, then smiled sheepishly and said: "Me, too."

Calero's Shot Leads Colonels

By United Press International

Jose Calero's three-run homer Wednesday night led the Louisville Colonels to a 7-2 victory over Columbus and a four-game bulge in the International League pennant scramble.

The 30-year-old native of Puerto Rico blasted the homer — his fourth of the year — in the third inning to give the Colonels a 5-0 lead and put the game out of reach. Billy Farmer scattered six hits for the victory. Chris Coletta also homered for the Colonels.

In other IL games, Rochester topped Syracuse, 8-4. Tidewater belted Richmond, 7-3, and Buffalo edged Toledo in 10 innings, 6-5.

The Red Wings won with a five-run outburst in the eighth inning. The victory moved them into second place. Frank Tepedino and Dave McDonald banged homers for the Chiefs.

The home run bats of Bob Heise and Bernie Smith powered the Tides to victory. Heise belted a two-run shot in the third inning, and Smith followed with a three-run blast in the fourth.

Buffalo's Bill Bryan tied the game at 5-5 with a two-run homer in the ninth and the Bisons went on to win in the next inning. Frank Coggins also hit a homer for the winners. The loss dropped the Mud Hens into third place, four and a half games behind the league leaders.

Newark Blanks Batavia 7 to 0

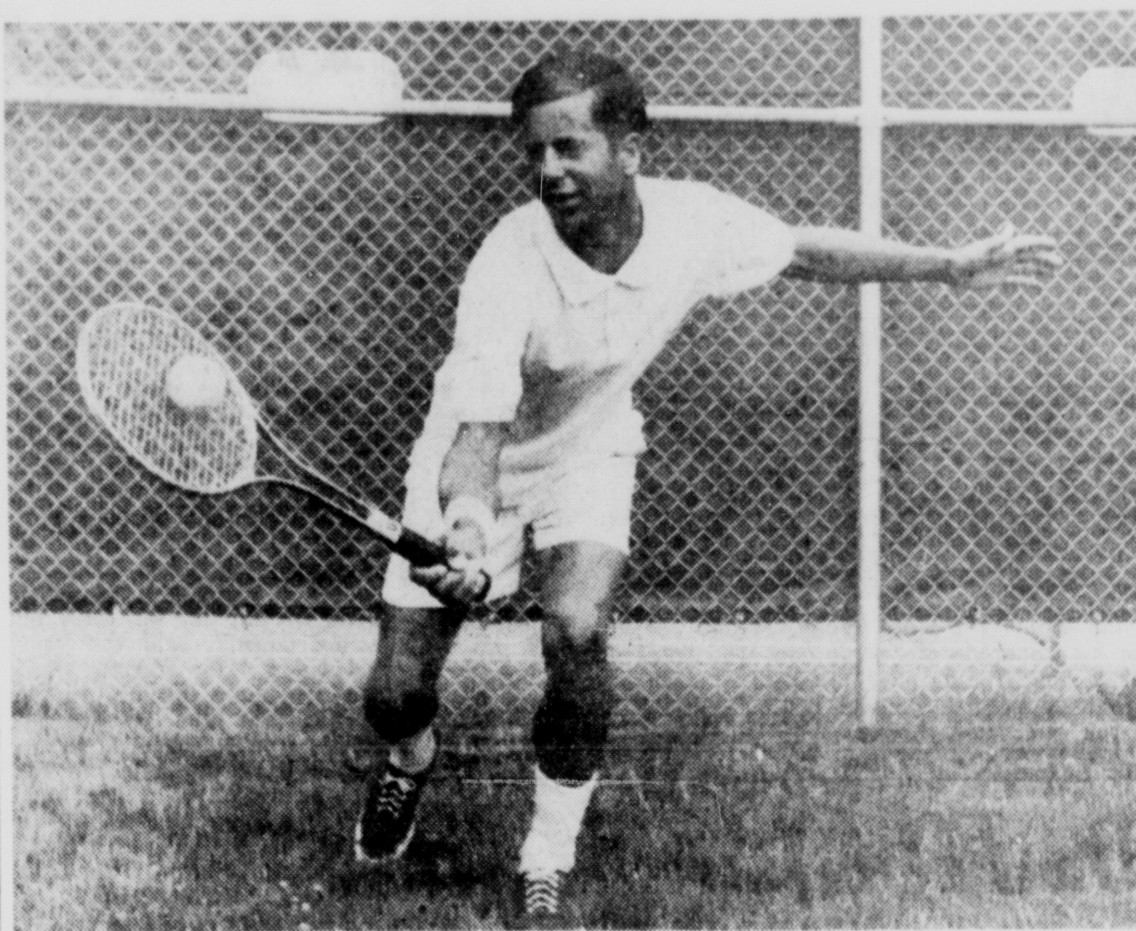

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Newark Co-Pilots shutout host Batavia, 7-0, Wednesday highlighting action in the New York-Pennsylvania league and moving them to within one game of the league-leading Trojans.

Newark's Ray Peters struck out ten Trojans and scattered six hits for the win. The Co-Pilots' first three batters, Will Howard, Steve Saradnik, and Jose Alcala, provided the power getting three hits each.

Alcala led the attack batting in three runs. Williamsport clobbered visiting Auburn, 13-2. Rory Hummel hit a two-run homer and Jay Schluster collected three hits, including a tripla dn was credited with four RBI's for the home team.

Sloppy play by Auburn in two innings gave Williamsport 10 of its runs. In the sixth, the hosts scored six runs on four hits, two walks and an error. Then, in the seventh, they got four runs out of six walks and a lone hit.

POWELTON CHAMP — Bill Zeeh of Kingston, above, defeated Neal Novesky, Middletown High ace, 7-5, 6-3 in the finals of the Powelton Club's 22nd Annual Invitational Tennis tournament at Newburgh. Zeeh whipped his long time DUSO League rival with fine passing shots and constant net pressure before 200 enthusiastic fans. The former Kingston High star eliminated the tournament's No. 2 seed, Raymond Cowan of Long Island, an Eastern-ranked player, 6-3, 6-1. Ashe, Poised for Laver, Asks South African Ban WIMBLEDON, England (UPI)—Arthur Ashe, America's top-ranked amateur tennis player, after two days of thinking over late developments, called again Wednesday for the banning of South Africa from Davis Cup competition and membership in the International Lawn Tennis Federation.

Ashe, a Negro Army lieutenant from Richmond, Va., called Sunday for South Africa's expulsion during a talk before the newly formed International Tennis Players Association. He told the group his application was accepted to play in South Africa's national tournament last March but the country refused him a visa because he is a Negro.

South African officials promptly denied Ashe had been refused a visa, and Ashe said Wednesday the South Africans were correct in that statement.

"When I wrote a letter to the tennis authorities in South Africa concerning the South African Open, they orally and in writing accepted my entry but said I would be refused a visa, so there is no use trying," Ashe told United Press International.

"So I did not actually go to an embassy and apply for a visa. But the fact South Africa cannot get around is that I have in writing an invitation to play in the South African Open, while the South African Lawn Tennis Union told me there was no use trying," Ashe said.

"South Africa should not be allowed to play in the Davis Cup any more until they change their eligibility rules under which only Whites can play. I think South Africa should also be excluded from the International Lawn Tennis Federation because only Whites in South Africa are represented by the South African Lawn Tennis Union."

Poland and Czechoslovakia both withdrew from Davis Cup competition against South Africa this year, letting the republic into the European Zone final against Britain after only one match.

Sweden has formally called for South Africa's expulsion from Davis Cup play, and the issue will be dealt with at Thursday's annual meeting in London of the Davis Cup.

Johnny's Hotel Tops Boo's, 6-5

SAUGERTIES — Boo's Tavern edged Rotron 6-5 in the Saugerties Met Division Softball league here.

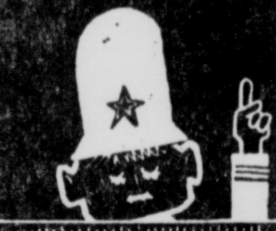

Two walks and a hit batsman loaded the bases for Boo's in the top of the seventh with no outs. Two sacrifice fly balls provided two runs and it stood up as Rotron mustered only one tally in the bottom half.

Joe Martin led Boo's attack with two singles and Frank Kelsch had a homer (his fourth leads league) and a single.

Johnny's Hotel won a forfeit victory over Ferroxcube, when they protested that Ferroxcube used an ineligible player. That they did. League rules state that players have to be a resident of Saugerties or be a Ferroxcube employee. The player was a Ferroxcube employee but he was in town just for the day, from Denver.

Elks Defeat Knights, 4-0, As K of C Suffers First Loss

KINGSTON — Elks Club handed the Knights of Columbus their first loss of the season Wednesday night, gaining a 4-0 decision over the leaders of the National Division in the City Babe Ruth League. K of C now has a 6-1 mark.

In other action around the loop, Vols nipped Chidsey-DeForest, 2-1 and Rock Construction socked the Kiwanis, 6-2 in the American Division.

Jim Milano struck out eight Knights, walked one and allowed but four hits en route to his victory. Tom Triscari took the loss but struck out 11.

Steve Vankleek went three-for-three and scored two runs for the winners. Bill Weishaupt went two-for-three for the Knights.

The Vols' Terry Allred allowed eight hits, but kept out of trouble with his eight strike outs to gain the win. Craig Struble was the losing pitcher.

The winners scored the ice in the bottom of the sixth on a long solo homer by Kevin Tierney. Tierney's blast went to deep left field.

Gary Callahan had a triple for the winners and Joe Fay connected for a three-bagger for Chidsey-DeForest.

Joe Tiano slugged a long homerun for the Kiwanis off of Rock hurler Bill Samuels and Bob Johnson doubled and scored, but it went all for naught as Samuels allowed just those two hits in gaining the win for the Construction Crew.

Johnson was the losing hurler. Pete Boyd and Lee Geunleas had two hits each for the winners.

Making Volvo faster was not only possible, but simple.

Volvo now comes with a bigger, more powerful engine that's every bit as durable as its old one. So if you come in and buy a Volvo, you'll be immediately impressed with how fast it goes. Then, you'll have years to be impressed with how tough it is.

Dear Abby

Overdose of Honesty?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
(© 1969 by Chicago Tribune)

N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter-in-law is paying $35 an hour to a doctor who must be as crazy as she is. This psychiatrist told her that in order to build her "self respect" she should cut out the "hypocrisy" and always say exactly what she thinks. She must be his star pupil because she is following his orders to the letter.

Not only that, but he told her to encourage her children to say exactly what THEY think, too. That is bad enough, but he also told her that words are only words and they don't "mean" anything, so not to react with horror or disgust if her kids talk dirty. Just ignore it.

Can you imagine what it's like at their house? Thank God my husband is dead, or this would kill him.

My son tells me not to pay attention to all this, but how can you ignore such uncivilized behavior? Since you are always plugging psychiatry I would like to hear your views on the subject.

CONFUSED IN PHILA.

DEAR CONFUSED: Anyone who is seeing a psychiatrist has my profound respect because it's proof that he is trying to help himself.

Be patient, and don't judge so early in the game. The whole family could be better off because eventually for what appears at the moment to be an overdose of honesty.

DEAR ABBY: My cousin, who recently was married, accepted a baby-sitting job for a family with 10 children while the parents went off on a week's vacation. My cousin and her husband stayed at the house and took complete charge of these children whose ages ranged from 5 months old to 15 years old, feeding, dressing, supervising play, cleaning the house and doing at least two loads of washing every single day.

Well, when the parents came home, they figured out that the "sitters" should be paid the grand total of $54!

My cousin was furious. What is your opinion?

INTERESTED

DEAR INTERESTED: This should be a good lesson to your cousin (and others who read this) to have a meeting of minds concerning the pay for any kind of job before it's accepted.

DEAR ABBY: I am facing a problem which is keeping me up nights and I don't know what to do about it.

First, let me explain that my husband and I have been married for five years and have two lovely little children. My husband recently made out the will, which states that if the two of us should be killed at so early in the game, The whole family could be better off because eventually for what appears at the moment to be an overdose of honesty.

TEEN FORUM

LIKE DAD: (Q.) My father is an alcoholic and my mother is constantly fighting with him. She tells me she can't stand him. I'm afraid she's getting to feel the same way about me.

I resemble my father very much. It seems that everything I do she tells me, "You're just like your father!" Then she starts to yell at me as if I were really him.

We're always getting in arguments because of this. I've told her how much it bothers me, but she keeps on. What can I do to show her how much this hurts me?—Hurt in Detroit.

(A.) Your mother needs your love and understanding and patience very much.

So does your father. If you can be kind to both of them, you may help them beyond measure. If you can, quietly and without arguing, help your mother to see the good things about your dad and vice versa, you may be able to change your home into a much better place.

This is a big assignment, I know. But in your home somebody needs to be positive, constructive, and loving. Your mother and father, in their present condition, are not able to do so. That leaves you. I believe you can help them. I believe your kindness will rub off on them.

DANCE DON'T: (Q.) My mom saw my boy friend and me dancing and she told me she didn't like what she saw. I told her the kids on television dance like that, but she said I'd better not any more.

When my boy friend asks me to dance, should I tell him I can't dance his way?—A Reader in San Antonio, Texas.

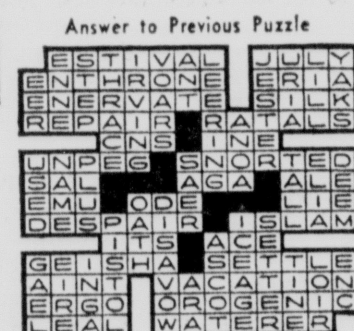

(A.) You do not say what kind of dancing your mother thinks is wrong. If you know in your heart that she is right, follow her advice.

If you feel you are dancing the way clean teens dance today, at parties and on television, too, ask your mother to explain to you just what it is that you and your boy friend are doing that she feels is different or wrong.

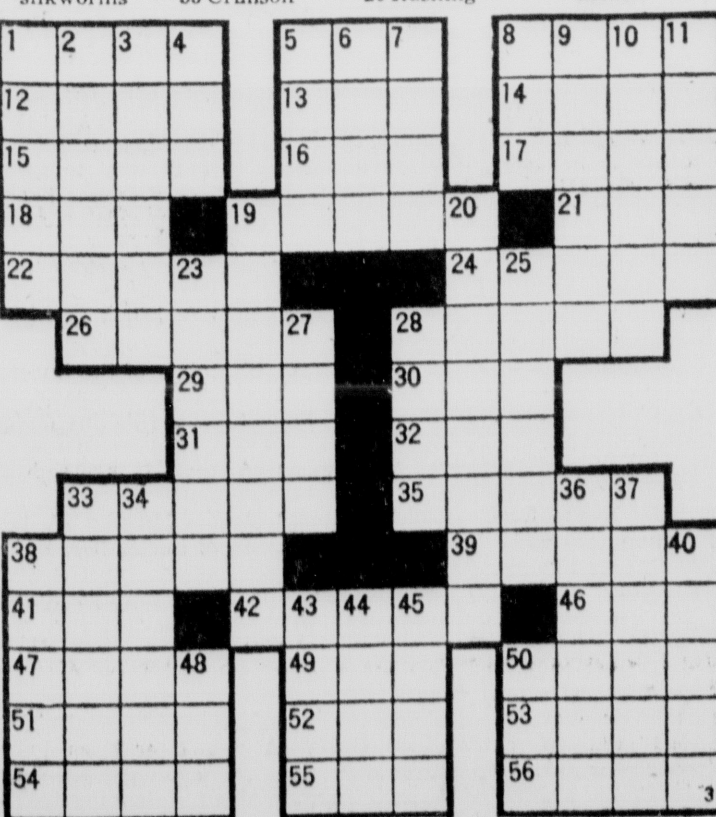

(Want personal answers to your questions? Write to Jean Adams, Box 2402, Houston, Texas 77001. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

It is a well-known principle that any time you give a player a chance to make a mistake he may do so. It is equally well-known that a player doesn't have to make a mistake just because he has been given a chance to do so.

When today's hand was played in a match point game, the contract at all tables was three no-trump. When North became declarer, as was generally the case, a club was opened. West's 10 would force North's king and when East got in with the ace of spades he would lead a second club and hold declarer to five.

South became declarer at three tables. In each instance, a heart was led. The first South made the routine play of letting the lead run around to his jack. Against that declarer, East promptly cashed his ace of clubs when he got in with the ace of spades.

The second declarer went up with dummy's king of hearts and dropped the jack from his own hand.

This false-card play might have worked. Unfortunately for him, East was able to do some thinking of his own and could see no reason why a declarer would play dummy's king when he held the jack in his own hand except as an effort to get a heart continuation. So this East also took his ace of clubs and held declarer to five.

The other South also went up with dummy's king of hearts but just dropped the three spot from his hand.

This time the East player who gained the lead with the spade ace should also have realized South wanted a heart return—but he didn't. He led back a heart and this last South ran off the rest of the tricks for a top score.

Saigon Claims Reds Stepping Up Pace

PARIS (UPI)—South Vietnam today accused the Communists of stepping up their war effort, thus contradicting Secretary of State William P. Rogers' contention that the Reds had reduced the level of fighting.

Speaking at today's 24th session of the Vietnam peace talks, Saigon's chief negotiator, Pham Dang Lam, said North Vietnam and the Viet Cong had kept the fighting at a possibly higher pace than before.

The United States made a new attempt at engaging the Communists in immediate talks on the exchange of prisoners of war. The move, disclosed by chief U.S. negotiator Henry Cabot Lodge prior to the meeting, came only a few hours after Hanoi radio announced North Vietnam would release three U.S. prisoners Friday.

In his statement, Lam warned the Communists that their refusal to de-escalate the war has jeopardized the success of the peace conference.

"On the battlefield, your side has not taken any action to de-escalate the war," Lam said.

Rogers told a Washington news conference Wednesday that the Communists had reduced the ratio of fighting in Vietnam to the lowest level in a long time. He said if these conditions persist, the pace of American troop withdrawals could be affected.

Before entering today's talks, Lodge also said the United States intended to give Communist negotiators details of Nixon administration moves to speed up the talks.

My speech today deals with the recent announcement concerning the release of American prisoners and it also submits concise, and we believe, authoritative summary of all the steps that our side has taken with bringing about a negotiated end to the Vietnam war," the U.S. official said.

A Communist diplomat reported on the eve of today's session that they planned to make no move unless the United States made new concessions and agreed to discuss the Viet Cong's 10-point peace plan.

Lodge was expected to attempt to engage the Communists in a serious debate of the "common ground" in the peace plans presented by the opposing sides.

But in view of the Communist official's statement, little response was foreseen.

"We do not expect any movement to be accomplished here because President Nixon refuses to discuss the 10-point peace plan" of the Viet Cong, the Communist official said.

Lowest Toll in Weeks

241 Americans Killed in Viet

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. headquarters reported the lowest American death toll in seven weeks today—241 American killed in action in Vietnam last week ending at midnight Saturday.

A few hours before the casualty report was issued U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers said in Washington he was told by Defense Secretary Melvin Laird: "Last week we had the lowest level in combat activity in Vietnam in a long time—possibly during the whole war."

The 241 toll was six fewer than the preceding week. The wounded total was 1,674, compared to 1,686 Americans wounded in the week before.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported government losses last week were 446 men killed and 804 wounded, as compared with 474 killed and 1,496 wounded in the previous week.

The two commands said 3,333 enemy were reported killed last week, a marked drop from 3,988 slain in the previous seven-day reporting period.

The latest casualty counts raised to 36,866 the number of Americans killed in action in Vietnam since Jan. 1, 1961. Another 236,563 Americans have been wounded in that period, headquarters said, and 1,331 are listed as missing, captured or interned.

The U.S. Command said 523,552 enemy have been reported killed by allied forces since Jan. 1, 1961.

By unofficial count, 13,015 Americans have been killed in action since preliminary Vietnam peace talks began in Paris May 13, 1968. Of that total, 6,809 died in the period since South Vietnam agreed to join the talks last Dec. 7.

South Vietnamese casualties during those periods are running ahead of American losses—16,958 government troops

Hanoi Eases Up on POWs

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnam announced today it will release three American prisoners of war and allow other American POWs to receive gifts from their families in observance of Independence Day.

Brief broadcasts by Radio Hanoi monitored in Tokyo and Hong Kong did not specifically say the prisoners would be released July 4. They also did not say where the men would be freed, nor were they identified.

But Tokyo monitors said Radio Hanoi spoke of "Americans captured in North Vietnam," indicating they were U.S. pilots who had been shot down.

North Vietnam last freed three U.S. pilots Aug. 2 in Vientiane, Laos. In the past North Vietnam has allowed American POWs to receive gifts on special holidays like Christmas.

The announcement came as U.S. military men were puzzling over one of the lowest levels of fighting in the war and trying to determine just how many North Vietnamese had infiltrated into South Vietnam or withdrawn.

American officers said three North Vietnamese regiments, the 36th, 138th and 27th, have pulled back across the 17th Parallel demilitarized zone into North Vietnam. But they said the Communist Command still has three regiments in the northern portion of South Vietnam, and speculated the pull back may simply mean new regiments will replace them.

Four enemy regiments also have pulled back from the Central Highlands around Ben Het, perhaps to get replacements after the recent battle there, the officers said.

Along the southern half of the Cambodian border, northwest of Saigon, a regiment of the North Vietnamese 7th Division reportedly has pulled back west of Loc Ninh. But spokesmen noted units of the 7th, 1st and 9th North Vietnamese divisions have been continually maneuvering in the critical 3rd Corps area.

In one 10-day period, said the spokesmen, that same enemy regiment operating west of Loc Ninh went back and forth across the border three times. Some said it appeared to be feeling for a soft spot in allied positions.

A similar situation was reported west of Tay Ninh City, where the enemy's 9th Division has been crossing and recrossing the border for several months.

In the Mekong Delta far to the south, U.S. intelligence indicated North Vietnam's old 273rd Regiment has just returned to what is known as the Seven Mountain area after months of absence.

The latest military intelligence indicates 10,000 North Vietnamese troops infiltrated down the Ho Chi Minh Trail through Laos and Cambodia last month. Spokesmen said about 63,000 enemy have come down the trail since the first of the year.

This appeared to conflict with a statement in Washington by Secretary of State William P. Rogers, who said "we know pretty conclusively" that the infiltration of North Vietnamese troops into South Vietnam has declined.

"I'm not disagreeing with anything Rogers said," said one U.S. source. "Washington is talking about the number of enemy troops being put into the pipeline, wherever the hell that starts. We are talking about what is actually coming into the country. This is possibly the difference in what Rogers is talking about."

Sources pointed out it takes North Vietnamese infiltrators three to four months to reach the 3rd Military Corps of South Vietnam thus a decline might not be reflected until the end of July or August.

One source said: "I don't know what they're really talking about in Washington."

A War Slowdown -- U. S. Not Sure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration is looking for some sign that the recent sharp drop in combat and the reported cutback in North Vietnamese infiltration into the South mean Hanoi is deliberately slowing down the war.

But officials are not sure they will get such an indication.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers suggests these developments may be due to some "change of plans" by the enemy command. And he has held open the possibility they could lead to increased U.S. troop withdrawal from Vietnam when President Nixon reviews his plans next month.

But Rogers also told a news conference Wednesday the decline in enemy activities could be due to manpower supply problems or to a regrouping of forces for new attacks.

Other officials say privately a new enemy offensive is a definite possibility based on the present, admittedly inadequate information.

Some authorities believe if the developments have political significance they would eventually get some signals to that effect, perhaps through Soviet or other diplomatic channels, from Hanoi.

One way for the United States to probe what is happening — apart from watching developments, is to ask North Vietnamese peace negotiators in Paris, Rogers said this would be done "when the right time comes . . . we do not attach too much significance to it at this time."

On the North Vietnamese infiltration level, Rogers said "We are not quite sure what it means except that we know pretty conclusively that there has been a reduction in the infiltration in the last two months."

At the Defense Department, however, military authorities tended to discount the significance of the reported drop. They said the total of North Vietnamese forces moving through the jungle trails normally varies from month to month.

Noting that figures of the enemy troop flow are gathered slowly from various sources, including prisoners, one officer commented that when more complete information on infiltration is available "we are not sure that it will drop off."

The military informants said they estimated movement of enemy troops into South Vietnam during the first half of the year averaged 8,000 to 10,000 men a month. They said North Vietnam's aim apparently has been to maintain about 100,000 fighting men in the South by constantly replacing casualties.

Rogers expressed hope this constituted a deliberate response by North Vietnam to President Nixon's June 8 announcement of the withdrawal of 25,000 American troops by the end of August.

Nixon intends to make a new decision during August on whether he can further reduce U.S. forces.

He has said his decision, like the one in June, will be based on South Vietnam's ability to replace American soldiers on developments in the Paris peace talks and on the level of enemy activity in the field.
